Shame. My conclusion, after listening to my informant, is this: "We are IT; you are OUR tools." Gentlemen, take warning; the spirit of 1776 is not dead by no means. Doubtless, some will censure me for being so plain; you are welcome. But let me ask you a question. Why should you mutter disapprovals amongst yourselves, and at the same time be so timid about their publicity? Be men, not cowards. THE KICKER.

A Binder Honored.

Friday, February 7th, at 4.15 p. m., the foreman of the Union Building Branch Bindery requested Mr. Herman Neidfelt to report at the desk.

Upon complying with the request he was met by Mr. Kirch, who in a near speech, and on behalf of the finishers, presented him with a very fine safety razor shaving set.

John T. McCausland then stepped forward and on behalf of the forwarders presented an up-to-date rain-coat, and combination set of comb, brush and hand mirror.

Bindry, Mr R. T. Fraley presented him with one of the finest fountain pens to be bought in the city.

MAKE THE BEST OF IT.

[FOR THE TRADES UNIONIST.] In this life are joy and sorrow, Interspersed along the way, And we can't predict to-morrow By the forecast of to-day.

But we can enjoy the present If our minds are free from care; And the world is ever pleasant When no fears are harbored there.

For it is the borrowed trouble That disturbs our lives the most: Or imaginary ghost,

That is vanished in a minute-Like a spook it disappears; Just because there's nothing in it. Useless are all borrowed fears.

Of the old and wintry storm; Just above the clouds are rifting. And the sun shines bright and warm.

On July 4, in the year of 1895, in the town of Bristol, State of Tennessee one Colonel Slack delivered himself of an oration before a large, admiring, and perspiring crowd of "mountain-folk." This oration duly appeared in the local which is destined to close only with the end of time. The Force of Habit.

This is a story that relates to that species of the "genus homo," whose bump of humor is so well developed that it resembles a mole-hill beside Olympus, and who wanders around armed with a No. 2 Faber, seeking signs and notices that he may alter and disfigure with samples of his wit (?).

Have you ever found it necessary to post a notice in the washroom calling the attention of observing persons to something which may be of interest or benefit to them? Have you returned later and found it so marked, scratched and altered that it was with difficulty that you recognized it as your own? If you have you are in a position to appreciate this story.

It is a well-known and undisputed fact that everything has an end. That everything that lives must die.

An old legend relates that after a long and busy life one of the above mentioned species found himself lying on his bed of death. He had about worn his No. 2 Faber out, and the grim destroyer was waiting at his side ready to cut the string that bound him to this wicked world. As he lay there retrospecting, the events of his past life glided by in silent procession before his fast dimming eyes. A self-satisfied smile slowly spread itself over his wan and pinched features. He could not recall one single instance during his whole existence on this mundane sphere where he had neglected to use his Faber for the exploitation of his lame and halting humor.

Slowly the drooping eyelids closed; the self-satisfied smile froze itself on his lips; and the heavy burden of life had been laid down.

He had been taught in early life that the soul after leaving its tenement of clay slowly wended its way to the Halls of Valhalla. What was this Valhalla? His imagination had pictured it to be an immense room filled with signs and notices, where, with bluntless and never-ending pencil, he could sit the live-long day and scratch and mark and disfigure for eternity. And now he had sharpened his pencil and started music, lovely maidens, and beautiful required. scenes greeted his ears and eyes, but these had no interest for him. The one dream of his life had been dispelled. He saw no signs or notices on the way. A spirit of depression and gloom settled over him. What a heavy heart was his!

Hope, though, eternal hope, had not entirely fled his breast, and so with heavy heart and leaden foot he plodded on his way. At last the pearly gates dawned upon his view, and joy of joys! Still three miles away he saw a sign tacked upon the gates. All the disappointments, all the sorrows fled away and left him light-hearted and happy. Drawing his trusty Faber from his pocket he started on a run and soon found himself staring with enraptured eye on the words:

REPENTANT SINNERS EVER WELCOME.

So fast had he travelled and so intent had been his gaze that he never noticed the person standing near with an immense club which he lovingly fondled. The pin-head with the Faber tightly gripped in his fingers stepped up and was about to change the first "S" into a "T" when someone suddenly and cruelly "shut off the sunshine."

The fool-killer had done his work and the poor little pin-head went whirl ing and tumbling into space.

The force of habit was too strong.

THE CENTRAL LABOR UNION

Body Addressed by Judge McCreary and Maurice Peachim.

GRIEVANCE COMMITTEE BUSY.

Ceramic, Mosaic and Encaustic Tile Layers No. 2 Protest on Tile Work Contract on the Government Printing Office Being Awarded to a Non-Union Firm-Many Communications Received-Constitution To Be Amended-Minor Matters.

The regular meeting of Central Labor Union was called to order Monday evening at 8 o'clock by President Ham-

Ninety-six delegates, representing forty-four organizations, were present. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Credentials were received from Bricklayers Union, No. 1, certifying W. N. Ditzler as delegate to this body, vice H. M. Shook, resigned.

Mr. Maurice Peachim and Judge J. L. McCreary delivered interesting addresses on economic subjects. A vote of thanks was extended the speakers. Several communications were received and referred to proper commit-

The amendment to the Constitution, providing for an Agitation Committee, was passed. Delegate from Columbia Lodge of Machinists stated that his organization would give a theatrical, and requested delegates to attend. Hod Carriers, Brick and Mortar Wheelers requested that their contract oe indorsed by this body, and that the following sections of Article I be published in THE TRADES UNIONIST: Sec. 1. Witnesseth that the party of Sec. I. Witnesseth that the party of the first part agrees that, on and after April 28, 1902, eight hours shall constitute a day's work; that time and half time shall be paid for all over time, and double time for Sundays and holidays.

double time for Sundays and holidays.

Sec. 2. The party of the first part agrees to pay a minimum scale of 25 cents per hour for the preparation of mortar and all delivery of brick and mortar to bricklayers and masons, whether by hod carriers or wheelers.

Sec. 2. The party of the first part fur.

Sec. 3. The party of the first part further agrees to employ only members of this union, or those who will become members, provided they meet all the requirements of the union.

Delegate Feeney stated that Conkey was a non-union concern. He requested that the Secretary be instructed to communicate with Admiral Schley and inform him of the facts in the case and state that his friends belonging to labor organizations could not purchase the book. Request granted.

The Contract Committee made their report as follows in regard to the Portner Brewing Company, of Alexandria:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 17. In accordance with existing contracts with the Portner Brewing Company, it is recommended that the Central Labor Union, of Washington, D. C., insist that none but union men allied with this body be employed by said corporation in all work of construction and repair. This Committee also recommends that the Secretary be instructed to so inform the Portner Brewing Com-

J. H. BABCOCK, Chairman. The Suffrage Committee reported that they had met and formulated a plan of procedure by inviting the Board of Trade, Business Men's Association, and others known to be in favor of the project to co-operate with them in a big meeting to further the cause on volcano, "Faralones de Pajoros," in Friday evening, February 21, at Typo- eruption. graphical Temple. They also recommended that the various unions be urged to assist in the matter.

The following communication was Encaustic Tile Layers, in regard to deaths occurring therein from the the tile work at the new Government plague; he also reports considerable Printing Office:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 17, 1902. CHARLES W. WINSLOW, Secretary Cen-

A great amount of tile work is to be put in the new Government Printing Office and as the National Mosaic Company, of Washington, D. C., has been awarded the contract, and, as the said company is on the unfair list of said company is on the unfair list of the Central Labor Union, we, the Cer- 39c. Tanzer's, 7th and N Sts. N. W.

amic, Mosaic and Encaustic Tile Layers' International Union, No. 2, do hereby protest against the National Mosaic

We also ask that the Central Labor Union use its best endeavors to have the tile and mosaic work made strictly union. Yours fraternally, W. L. HAGEMAN, Rec. Sec. Referred to Grievance Committee.

A delegate from the Sheet Metal Workers requested that the Secretary correspond with the Retail Liquor Dealers' Association and ask them to see that the label of the Sheet Metal Workers is upon the adopted standard of measure for the sale of beer. Request Allied Building Trades Council requested the Central Labor Union to use its good offices in the matter of the Journeymen Plumbers and Gas Fitters' Union, Local No. 5, sending delegates according to its constitution and bylaws. Request complied with.

The communication of the Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers, No. 368, relative to the owner of a certain river resort refusing to employ members of their union, was received and referred to the Grievance Committee.

A communication was received from Bricklayers' Union, No. 1, stating that at their last regular meeting they had indorsed the Chinese exclusion bill as drafted by the American Federation of Labor. They also requested that the name of T. H. Pickford, corner of Ninth street and Louisiana avenue, be placed upon the unfair list on account of employing non union mechanics upon houses being constructed by him. This matter was referred to the Grievance Committee.

Many organizations communicated that they had indorsed the action of this body in the case of placing E. N. Richards & Co., paperhangers, upon the unfair list.

A motion to revert to the former method of calling the roll of members

Delegate Pietcher, of the Machinists' union, gave notice that he would introduce a constitutional amendment covering the same.

OPPOSED TO ORGANIZED LABOR

Appearances Made up for Special Visitor's Day-McTaggart, Labor Crusher and Arch Enemy of Unions, Its Chief Aid-False Statements Sent Broadcast to 'Square" This Notorious Product.

It seems that the National Cash Register Company has been posing before the public as a friend of the workingman but in reality it has proven itself a labor

The reputation of this firm was gained by advertising to the world how well they treated their employes and how satisfied and contented they were. They would even discharge any man or woman who had the temerity to deny it, but they were continually antagonizing labor unions that they might keep their employes from organizing and in complete subjection to themselves. This much lauded concern has had five strikes in the last three years, the men insisting upon being independent and thinking for themselves, a thing which is contrary to the National Cash Register Company's idea of what workingmen are entitled to. When those "contented" men did not join labor unions, the firm immediately began to take an to keep in closer touch with them they hired detectives and spies from secret them. The duty of these spies was to time the men on their work and suggest which jobs should be reduced, to take note of all conversations among the men, to report the proceedings of their meetings, etc., for which they received one hundred dollars per month. Five of these traitors in the employ of this company were exposed at the same

In applying for a job there you must answer more than twenty questions, had worked up a beautiful reputation such as "Tell your religion," "What in the East as a labor crusher, and education have you," "Do you drink when his fame in that line reached the or not," "Ever Married," "Ever ar- ears of this grand institution, he was rested," "Where did you work last," "Why discharged?" If all goes well his talents in line to the existing unions and you land, you then proceed to the which were easily disposed of by his company's doctor for a physical exam- deft manipulations. This was repeated ination which costs you a dollar, pass twice within three years, he having or not, and if you do pass, all you have each time discovered that a new union to do is to sign an agreement to live up had been organized; and the reduction strictly to a lengthy list of iron-clad of wages and the unjust discrimination rules. You then get a job which pays against the men never ceased. His you anywhere from a dollar and ten cents a day up, and if you have any crimination against the men never tattle-tale propensities, you are in a fair way for promotion.

is impressed by the beautiful flowers and palms in the foundry and polishing and grinding rooms. Now take a peep behind the scenes: the "contented" men see a janitor with a truck load of flowers and palms placing one in each pile of sand behind each machine and then hurry out of sight. In a few minutes in comes your visitor who is agreeably surprised to see such beauty in those usually smokey and dusty rooms, passes out willing to say there is 'the model factory of the world." the mean time the janitor is gathering up his flowers and palms and taking them back to the greenhouse. If that visitor would only stop to think how long was once a prominent union man, and flowers could live in such places, "there would be food for thought."

When the Dayton public library decided to place branch libraries in various parts of the city, they gladly accepted the use of a small building of the firm's near their factory as they they are justly entitled to-recognition. volunteered to attend to the carrying of the books to and from the main library. In a very short time the whole world had seen pictures and descriptions of that library which the "model factory" claimed as their own.

vite the displeasure of the company; besides, it makes another pretty exhibit for visitors who, by the way, are not made aware that any charge exists Some of the photographs that were most widely circulated were obtained from a window on the top floor of one of the buildings, some of the girls who had been taken there for the occasion being placed conspicuously in the foreground to convey the impression that such views were obtained from the girls' workrooms.

The business acumen which has made the millions which this firm possesses was again displayed in the unique scheme which, for advertising purposes, was called the boys' gardens. Twenty-five dollars in prizes, ranging from $2 50 to $5, tied up in little blue silk bags, were offered to the juvenile population of the neighborhood for cultivating several acres of their land, they furnishing the seeds free through the kindly agencies of the agricultural department of the United States government. This land has now advanced to double its former price, and photographs of it are being used to good advantage by their agents.

This firm has its own wells and pumps its own water, and as the factory is well piped throughout, these benevolent employers saw another chance to advertise their contented men and put up a few sprinklers on each floor where the men (who, by the way, are nearly all piece workers) were allowed twenty minutes each week to wash themselves, provided that they furnished their own towels and soap. This was appreciated until the price of interest in their meetings, and in order the men's independence had to pay the bill, besides having to submit to the photographer during their abluitions, agencies to keep a protecting eye upon the pictures of which were audaciously shown to the world. The New York Journal struck the keynote when it said that the workingman of today would rather wash in a tin basin of his own and preserve his manhood and independence than to have to use a porcelain bath tub at the cost of his personal liberty.

But when they introduced McTaggartism-that was the straw that broke the camel's back. This McTaggart quickly hired and immediately applied principal vocation is cutting wages, disceased. His principal vocation is cutting wages, disrupting unions and going A visitor in going through the factory to church. When the men became desperate, and, after forming another local, demanded recognition, he simply said: "You have made your bed; now lie in it," and in less than one year from that time twenty-two of those men were discharged on one pretext or another; and when the union ordered their committee to ask that it be stopped, it was also discharged and the men were compelled to go on a strike for their rights. Since that time this firm has resorted to every contemptible means to gain public sympathy and sell their product. They have imported men (?) to fill the strikers' places, and by various subtle influences have corrupted a creature who have had him send out letters declaring that the firm is in the right; but in spite of their millions and their living lies and their false statements, it looks as if the men who are fighting so nobly for the grand cause would soon obtain what Bindery Notes.

A subscription banquet, given by members of the Bookbinders' Society, will be held at the Hotel Oxford, Fourteenth street and New York avenne, February 21st. The committee guaran tees all a good time. The talent consists of members of the Bindery Minstrels. The following talented gentlemen will appear Professors Oates and Huskins, Mr. Terry, Chas. Weston, J. Irwin Esterly, Fred. Seyffert, Andrew Berghison, Ben Spellberg, John Weidman, Edward McCarty, Albert Lindstrom. The following committee has charge of the banquet and entertainment: Wells C. Harrell, W. E. Gallagher, Frank Lanman, Gus Bauer, Wm. H. Kelly, Tim McKenna, J. A. B. Espey, Walter H. Oliver, James Rutherford, R. W. Brown, John Hambly, Wm. Haslett, Robt. Fraly, Chas. Rentzel, E. S. Luby. Robt. Fraly is to be toast

The old stamped leather bindings of the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries are often beautifully executed and exceedingly interesting. Jean Grolier, Viscount d'A'guise, one of the four treasurers of France, (born at Lyons, 1479, and died, 1565) collected a magnificent library, and had the books splendidly bound. In 1675, Gascon, the celebrated binder of that time, was chiefly employed by Grolier, but the designs are said to have been composed by himself in moments of leisure. A wood cut of one of these buildings will be 25c. Tanzer's, 7th and N Streets N. W found in Shaw's "Decorative Arts." to have belonged to the Chevalier Jean Furtner, 22 Quincy street northwest. Grolier. Aldus, the famous printer of Venice, printed the works of Machiavelli in 1540 in four volumes. Grolier had his copy bound in four different patters, and one volume was sold at the Libri sale for one hundred and fifty pounds. At the same sale ten volumes which formerly belonged to the library of Diana of Poitiers, beautifully bound, were sold for eighty and eighty-five pounds, respectively. The celebrated artist "le petit Bernard" is said to have been employed on them. At the library at Trevas is a manuscript studded with heads wrought in fine cameos. In the middle of the sixteenth century, leaves of paper were pasted together for bindings wood having been previously used for this purpose. Mr. Thomas says the originator of binding in cloth was Mr. R. E. Lawson, of Stanhope street, Blackfriars, formerly in the employ of HARRIGAN. Mr. Chas. Sully, and the first book bound in cloth was a manuscript volume of music, which was subsequently purchased by Mr. Alfred Herbert, the marine artist. The volume being shown to the late Mr. Pickering, who was at MISS REATA WINFIELD the time (1823) printing a diamond edition of "The Classics," he thought this material would be admirably adapted for the covers of the work The cloth was purchased at the corner of Wilderness Row and John streets and Classics were covered by Mr. Lawson with cloth. Shakespeare's plays were also issued in this form and these works were the first books bound in cloth. Cow Boy.

She is all right! The temporary employed men are happy over the Civil order making it a descretionary matter with the "Printer of America" as to the length of their term of employment. There is lots of work to be handled and the chances are the men will make a good long run of it. The most of them are saving their money and keeping out of mischief.

Well, the boys did not like it much, but they had to "go way back and sit down," as the saying is, the night of Washington's birthday. They would rather have been around seeing the sights and spending their money, instead of sticking type. It makes one think of the days of long ago when Ben Franklin carried on the printing business, and George Washington (then a surveyor) waited around for him to pull proofs of his exploits in New York State. About Pennies.

"Pennies," says Treasurer Roberts, "are not composed entirley of copper, the alloy being ninety-five per cent. copper, two per cent. tin, and three per cent.[zinc. They cost the government about 42 cents a pound for blanks,' meaning the circular disk prepared ready to receive the impression of the die. As it takes about 148 to weigh a pound, the government apparently makes $1.06 on every pound of pennies minted, and would, in fact, make this surplus were it not that they were redeemable in gold upon presentation at the treasury, though, of course, the amount presented for redemption is second story, front room, well furnished, comparatively small. WASHINGTON, D. C., March 1, 1902. CHARLES W. WINSLOW, Secretary of Central Labor Union.

DEAR SIR:
I acknowledge gratefully yours of February 27, conveying the thanks of the Central Labor Union for my attitude toward the shortening of the hours of labor of the firemen of this city.
I welcome anything which draws me nearer to the workingmen of the country, in whose welfare I feel a sincere interest.

A communication was received from Beer Drivers and Stablemen's Union, No. 234, stating that they had failed to adjust their differences with the Arlington Bottling Company, although they had used all the honorable means in their power to do so, and asked now that this body place said company upon the unfair list. The trouble was caused, the communication states, by the company refusing its consent to permit its employes to join the union. Referred to Grievance Committee.

A communication was received from Retail Clerks' Union, No. 262, request ing this body to take the name of Mrs. Haines, who conducts a store at Eighth street and Pennsylvania avenue southeast, from the unfair list as the contract between Mrs. Haines and No. 262 had been ratified by the Executive Committee of that body. Incorporation of Labor Unions.

The Tribune has been asked several times by readers to define its position upon the proposed incorporation of trades unions. And the itself, was received, read, and placed uncertainties of law, and the prejudices of judges, are something that labor unions, if they are wise, will not show undue haste to reckon with.

Mr. Wright, whose zeal in this matter is hardly due entirely to his love of trades unionism, thinks that, with incorporation, "there will be a better standing in court, where the unions will be able to appear as legal persons, and enforce their contracts against employers. There will be a better standing with the public, an increase in dignity and importance, and the prestige of an Workman, in whose service I am a day incontestable legality." All of which laborer, are such that I can not but feel sounds very well, but does not touch the core of the argument against the plan. The unions have a way to enour calling to enter into the Family of force contracts against employers that does not require the aid of courts. And employers really do not suffer often from breaches of contract on the part of the unions. Any union that wantonly violated its obligations in this manner would soon cease to command the support of its own men, and would be sufficiently punished by its own disruption. As for the "prestige of an incontestable legality," there is an old saw that Mr. Wright perhaps remembers, to-wit: "Fine words butter no parsnips."-Labor Tribune.

THERE is a rumor that PAUL KRUGER is coming to this country. I hope it isn't true. In the midst of our preparations for the special embassy to London we can not spare time to this broken-down old exile, driven from his home by the soldiers of the King we are about to celebrate. What care we for his thin gray hair and his bent shoulders; for the ravished homes, the ruined fields, the martyred men and women and children, and the assassinated republics of South Africa? What is this compared with the fit of MR. WHITELAW REID's court costume and the amended shape of his new silk legs? No, no; we must not be disturbed in this rapturous moment by the importunities of a shabby old man or the dying groans of human liberty at the antipodes. Our forefathers fought for that very liberty once upon a time-fought against the same tyrant and suffered the same cruelties at his hands-but, LORD! that was more than 125 years ago. It was an era of violence. Men loved freedom in those days and the world respected them for loving it. Sometimes the helping the Boers now. What do we want with republican institutions, anyhow? The fashion has changed. Actare getting more numerous every daywho regard the Revolution of 1776 as a boorish blunder and the patriots of the Revolution as disreputable ancestors. This once unkempt republic has become "a world power." It is right in with the swim-a real apple-and bobbing along as gayly as the best of them. Avaunt, PAUL KRUGER! Getthee, with thy sores and rags, from this imperial cluding the foreman, for he is a good scene! Betake thyself to the ashes and hecatombs of South Africa! We are busy with genuflexions and the kissing of Kings' hands-"The Pessimist" in the Washington Post.

FLOTSAM AND JETSAM.

In connection with the recent death of Percy L. Moore, who was a member of the Endowment Rank, Knights of Pythias, a member of the order showed me a check, payable to Mr. Moore's widow, for $2,000, received in less than six weeks after his death, notwithstanding that the papers relating to the matter had to be sent here from Chicago, then to Mississippi and return, within that time. This is quick work and reflects great credit on a noble order, for which, though not a member, I have the greatest respect. The most of the beneficial orders take about three twenty years ago. Those who worked in the office eighteen or twenty years ago will have no trouble in bringing to mind William O. Smith, a Pennsylvania boy, who worked in the old piece department presided over by Bill Norton, then known as "Botany Bay." Long ago ne rose superior to working for wages and branched out for himself. Born in Reynoldsville, Pa., in 1859, and educated in the public schools, he learned the printing trade and was for a short time publisher of the Reynoldsville Herald before obtaining a situation here, which he retained about six years. He was one of the ten printers who established the old Craftsman, which had a lifetime of about ten years, and was for a time associate editor. In 1884 he resigned and returned to his native county, and was a member of the Pennsylvania Legislature in 1889, 1890, 1892, and 1894. During the summer and fall of 1891 he was the editor of the Bradford Daily Era, and in 1892 he purchased the Punxsutawney Spirit, of which he is the present editor. The small-pox scare has developed the fact that we have in our midst some of the most unprincipled people on the face of God's foot-stool. When these students(?) scratch your arm for the sake of earning 25 or 15 cents, while a regular physician says it is worth $1, it is proof positive, in my mind, that at heart they are nothing but "rodents." Has the Union no jurisdiction in such matters? If not, an amendment to the Constitution should make it a misdemeanor, punishable by expulsion, for any of its members to engage in any profession other than the one at which ne or she is regularly employed. The motto should be, "Live and let live." Avoid being jacks-of-all-trades, and masters of none.

The reinstatement of Dr. Stromberger in the G. P. First Division. B. G. Ferguson, erstwhile of the First, has departed for Chicago.

Charles Yeakle has been transferred from this division to the Night Bill Force.

Two probationary members, James B. Harris and F. F. Moore, were assigned to this division this week.

Through the kindness of "Doc.' Murray Hackett, chairman of the ring alley, several members of this division underwent the arm-jabbing operation in the office.

Tommy Harris, of the average room, has reported for duty again, having been absent several days on a trip to Iowa, whither he went to attend the burial of his mother.

Now is an opportune time to get up a petition to Congress to pass a measure granting sick leave to employes of the Government Printing Office. Sore arms may cause some little enforced idleness.

On inquiring about a friend of his the other day, an ill-advised young fellow casually asserted that the aforesaid printerman worked in this division, near the "tabulating department." Where 'tis?

CITY, Feb. 25, 1902. COL. C. H. SLACK:

DEAR SIR: Do you like the Fourth Division better than the Spec.? I think the Fourth is the best division in the G. P. O. I worked there for four years. Col. Cottle is a superb gentleman with the bearing of a Congressman and the diplomacy of an Ambassador. Col. Grant, his assistant, is a splendid man and an illustrious warrior, having defended Cabin John Hotel against inva-sion by blood-thirsty Spaniards in 1898. One of the fair ones ornaments the frame over which you once presided with becoming dignity and signal ability, since your meteoric flight from this division. Capt. Smoot still remains the pride of the men and the idol of the ladies. Again, Colonel, let me thank you for your kind offices. May your shadow never grow less. Yours truly, W. T. MENARD.

The many friends of William H. Towers will regret to learn that he was stricken with apoplexy on Tuesday evening at his home at Mount Vernon Flats in this city.

Mr. Towers is well known here, having been employed for a number of years in the Government Printing Office, and at the time of the unfortunate occurrence was holding a position as proofreader at said institution. He worked as usual Tuesday and was enjoying good health.

He and his family have the earnest wish of many friends for his speedy recovery, and that he may soon again be at his post of duty. His age is about 70 years.

Plasterers employed on a twenty five story building in Pittsburg, Pa., struck recently against walking up and down stairs in their own time, and were granted one hour's pay per day for the time thus occupied.

While the Allis Chalmers Company of Chicago, and the striking machinists are carrying on a bitter warfare against each other, secret negotiations are gradually bringing the two parties to the controversy nearer together.

At the entrance of the residence of H. N. Rust, at South Pasadena, Cal., is the celebrated "Gold of Ophir" rose bush. It is 15 feet high, 25 feet in diameter, and contains 13,563 fullblown roses, not counting buds. This bush was planted as a slip in 1884.

A wage scale of $3 for a work day of eight hours is demanded throughout Queens county by the Amalgamated Painters, while members of the Brotherhood unions work nine hours daily for a wage scale ranging, it is said, from $2.25 to $2 50 a day.

The Carpenters' Union, of Syracuse, has made a formal announcement that, beginning April 1, all its men will be expected to receive an increase in pay of 5 cents an hour, making the schedule 35 cents, and the boss masons have been notified of a similar advance in the scale of wages for the masons, which raises their schedule from 45 to 50 cents an hour.

W. D. Mahon, president of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employes, has issued his yearly report, in which he states that sixty five local unions have been organized in the United States and Canada in the last twelve months. The organization has had thirteen strikes. Five of them were successful, five are still pending, and three were lost. The association has 128 local unions.

Manager William M. Warren, of Parke, Davis & Co., manufacturing pharmacists, of Detroit, Mich., proposes to issue 4,000 shares of its capital stock and permit the oldest among its employes, especially those in important positions as managers, superintendents. and foremen, to purchase this new stock at $55 a share. The present market value of the stock is $70 a share, and the face value is $25 a share.

At a meeting of the paper manufacturers of Wisconsin, who have not yet granted the short hour concessions, preliminary steps were taken to effect an organization, which shall present a united front against the paper makers, not only during the present difficulties, but also in the event of any future disturbance. Committees were appointed to carry out the plans outlined, and a second meeting will be held some tieur

Workmen in the building trades are awaiting with interest the result of the request of the Chicago Bricklayers' Union for an increase of wages of 10 cents an hour. It is openly said that the contractors are willing to pay the advance if the bricklayers will enter into an exclusive agreement, which means that members of the union will work for no contractor or property owner not a member of the Masons and Builders' Association. CHAIR NAMES COMMITTEES

Resolution Anent Ship Subsidy Bill-Amendments Offered to the Constitution-Many Communications Read and Disposed of-Steam Engineers, Local No. 77, Protest-The Grievance and Label Committees Given Much Business.

President Hamerstrom called the Central Labor Union to order in weekly session Monday evening at Typographical Temple. Secretary Winslow was present and read the minutes of the previous meeting, which were approved.

The meeting was well attended, there being many trade organizations delegates present. Credentials were received from Brewery Engineers, Firemen, Oilers, and Helpers, No. 292, and protest of Local No. 77, Steam Engineers. They were referred to the Organization Committee.

A communication was received from the Retail Clerks' Union, No. 262, stating that Joseph Auerbach had repeatedly violated his contract with that organization, and had expressed his intention of not living up to the same. This union asked the Central Body to lative Committee: give this matter their attention, and the same was referred to the Grievance Committee. The Musicians' Protective Union complained of having used all means and persuasion with the Lafayette Square Theatre, and requested the same be placed upon the unfair list. This, too, was referred in regular order to the Grievance Committee.

A communication from the Amalgamated Wood Workers' International Union of America, from Chicago, calling the attention of this body to the unfair attitude toward organized labor of Reinle Bros. & Solmon, of Baltihave discharged employes for belonging to the union, and shown their hostility to organized labor in many ways. The Wood Workers request that this body use their efforts in this city to have dealers not handle their goods. the Label Committee.

Workers' International Union, Local No. 65, of Troy, N. The special order of business was taken up and the chair announced nominations for Sergeant-at-Arms in order. Delegate Dean, of the Printing Pressmen, was nominated, and was elected by acclamation. Under the call of Painters' Union, Delegate Lewis presented the following letter from the Master Painters'

Association: WASHINGTON, March 8, 1902. Mr. Lewis, President of Brotherhood of Painters, No. 368:

Union, in order to refute a charge that the contract stipulates a ten-hour work-Painters' Association, the Central Labor Union, the Brotherhood of Painters tickets may have first choice of seats No. 368, and the national officers of the tickets may have first choice of seats.

Brotherhood of Painters, are well aware that Section 2, of that contract, provides "That eight hours shall constitute a day's work," and there is no intent, nor does the Master Painters' Association desire to change this sec-

The publishing of the contract could serve no other purpose than to prolong a controversy that we earnestly desire ended. The Master Painters' Association entered into this contract with you and gave you their support with the hope that it would end a very unfortunate state of affairs that has existed in our trade during the past year, and re-lieve our patrons of the annoying contentions resulting from the existence of two labor unions in the same trade, each refusing to work with the other. deavor to quiet matters that our trade first page of your last issue appears an is said, from $2.25 to $2.50 a day. article reproduced from the Philadel-Henry George, Jr., under the heading 'No Prosperity for Labor."

Differs on Labor's Prosperity. EDITORS THE TRADES UNIONIST:

Mr. George figures that in the past ten years there has been a fall in wages in twenty-eight States of 3 per cent. He says he bases his calculations on Census bulletins, and that since the above computation was made the Census Bureau has issued bulletins for five more States, which make a still worse That contract having gone into force, showing, carrying the general decrease we expect you to use your best enin money wages down to 7.4 per cent. in money wages down to 7.4 per cent. may resume its normal state.

As one of the contracting parties, the of Tennessee and South Carolina, which he figures show a decrease of 9 per cent and 20 per cent, respectively. Mr. George concludes his article with the following observation, which I am compelled to class as extremely pessimistic '

> Well, what does this signify? It signifies just this—that while the owners and managers of the trusts are getting undoubted benefit out of the present prosperity era, workingmen are better off so far as higher wages are concerned, the mass of men in this country are, by the testimony of those who have no wish to show the trust era at any disadvantage, proved to be worse off, because prices making up the cost of living have risen, while wages, considered as whole, have fallen. The workingman has to pay more for the necessaries and comforts of life, and he gets less money with which to do it. After that I do not see what the trust advocates can say. The case is proved against them out of the mouths of their own

> I think the editors of THE TRADES Unionist will agree with me when I say it should be the effort of labor publications and writers to show the bright side of the labor question when it is possible to do so. That is the purpose of this letter.

> Mr. George contends that the trusts are responsible for this apparent decrease in wages. Will he please tell us what trusts are to be found in the States of Tennessee and South Carolina? The writer has been under the impression that trusts were the creation and habitue of the "wicked East."

Eliminating trusts from the discussion I will try to refute Mr. George's theory by quoting from several items that appeared in the same issue of THE TRADES UNIONIST containing his article.

At Pittsburg: The Pittsburg Bricklayers' Union, at a meeting last Friday night, arranged to demand a wage of 66% cents an hour and an eight-hour workday. The present rate under the agreement with the American Pressman: ster bricklayers is 50 cents an hour and eight hours. * * *

Under the wage contract with the brick ontractors, which will expire May 1, the oricklayers receive 50 cents an hour under here has put a premium on this class of labor. and the craftsmen of all trades have been vorking at from 65 to 75 cents an hour. In Pittsburg and Allegheny there are about 4,000 bricklayers-Labor Tribune.

At Baltimore:

Two-thirds of the various trades of Baltimore demand an increase of wages to take effect May 1. In more than twenty cases the employers have been notified, and in several instances they have conceded the demand made. Among the leading trades to adopt new scales are Tin, Sheet Iron, and Metal Workers, who ask $2.50 in wages for a nine nour workday, with time and a half for overtime and double time for Sunday work Bricklayers will insist on 40 cents an hour Plasterers have raised the scale from $3 to $3.50 for a day of eight hours. Wooven wire and metal lathers have adopted a $2 a thousand scale, instead of $1.75.

The following notes also will show that labor is prospering fairly well: Engineers and firemen on the Illinois Central demand an increase in wages. The Brakemen's Union, at New Haven, Conn., has asked the consolidated road for a ten-hour day at $2 a day, with pay for over-

The Carpenters' Union, of Syracuse, has phia North American, written by made a formal announcement that beginning April 1, all its men will be expected to receive an increase in pay of 5 cents an hour, making the schedule 35 cents, and the boss masons have been notified of a similar advance in the scale of wages for the masons, first time the ritual of the order, writwhich raises their schedule from 45 to 10 cents ten by its founder, W. S. McKean.

Manager William M. Warren, of Parke, Davis & Co., manufacturing pharmacists, of Detroit, Mich., proposes to issue 4,000 shares of its capital stock and permit the oldest among its employes, especially those in important positions as managers, superintendents, and foremen, to purchase this new stock at $55 a share. ing with interest the result of the request of the Chicago Bricklayers' Union for an increase of wages of 10 cents an hour. It is openly said that the contractors are willing to pay the advance if the bricklayers will enter into an exclusive agreement, which means that members of the union will work for no contractor or property owner not a member of the Masons and Builders' Association. The bricklayers now receive 50 cents

In conclusion I beg to say that we but little interest in Mr. George's labor here is better employed and at more remunerative wages than at any time in recent years. We have seen the wages of printers and bookbinders increased 25 per cent, with the demand greater than ever known. I regret to differ with Mr. George but am forced to the optimistic observation that American labor is in the hev-dev of its prosperity and bids fair to hold its own for some time to come.

The following is taken from the Louis-"The Observer," and as it relates to a matter much agitated throughout the country anent the separation of pressmen from feeders and assistants and advocates the formation of two distinct international bodies, the feeders and cylinder pressmen the other, we place the same before our readers

"George Ramsey, President of the Washington Printing Pressmen's Union No. 1, a pressman of over twenty-five years' experience, and a leading light of the I. P. P. and A. U., has this to say in the last convention number of

Of the important questions to be considered at the 1901 convention, to my mind, the feeder or assistant question is the most important. Whether it were better for them, and also for the pressmen, to continue as they are, or whether it would be better to encourage them to organize an International of their own, with an alliance the same as we have with the bookbinders and printers, are subjects that must be met soon and thoroughly digested. For myself, I am of the opinion that a separate organization would be the best, and I would vote to divide the funds of the International pro rata with them, and give them complete autonomy at this convention if a majority of the delegates from the Assistants' Unions so decide. I believe it would e the best solution of the New York difficulty, would clarify the atmosphere considerably in Chicago, and have a peneficial and lasting effect in many other localities. That it must be decided that way in the near future, I am

The Debating Assembly has decided to add for the nonce, a musical treat to its literary program, and on Friday will divide time between its speakers and those of its membership favored with the divine musical gift. My genial alleymate, Stephen T. The Wilkens Company, who have the contract for its issuance in book form, will, at an early date, present this tale of local life to the book-loving public, in suitable library edition-cloth. To those who know the author, it is needless to say that the "label" will appear on the title page, and the mechanical work be done by union men. Not having read the work as a serial, criticism is impossible, but, judging from the Yetter will take place during lunch personality of the well-known and popular author, it should have quite a sa'e. When you pay more for the rent of your business house than for advertising your business, you are pursuing a false policy. If you can do business, let it be known.

THE city council of Toronto, Canada, has passed a resolution declaring that hereafter no more tenders for civic work will be accepted from American contractors. The reasons given for the action is that Canadians are barred in American cities.

ELLA WHEELER WILCOX, who writes such glowing articles on the brotherhood of man and downtrodden woman has her book published by the W. B. CONKEY Co., a non-union establishment, where the hours are the longest and the wages the smallest in the country.

FIVE of the largest publishing houses in Chicago are now using the Union Label. The greatest favor you can do the printing trades is to refuse to talk to any book agent who can not show you the Union Label on his books. Several firms are seeking to deceive the public with unfair goods, which they say are the product of union houses. Insist on the Label.

THE GROSVENOR bill to limit the meaning of the word "conspiracy" and the use of restraining orders and injunctions was ordered favorably reported Tuesday to the House by the Judiciary Committee without amendment. The bill had the unanimous indorsement of organized labor through out the country. The bill prevents the free use of injunction in labor disputes.

It provides that no agreement, combination or contract, to do or procure to be done, or not to do or procure not to be done, any act in contemplation or furtherance of any trade dispute between employers or employes shall be criminal, nor shall those engaged therein be indictable for the crimes of conspiracy, if such act committed by one person would not be punishable as a crime, nor shall such agreement, combination, or contract be considered as in restraint of trade or commerce, nor shall any restraining order or injunction be issued with relation thereto.

Now, what organized labor wants is to see the law upon the statute books.

Warning to the "Masher."

MAJOR SYLVESTER, Chief of Police of this city, has issued instructions to the police to enforce the provisions of the law against the so-called and wouldbe "masher" who loiter about the entrances to the theatres, business houses, public places, and the corners. This is as it should be as it is very embarrassing to ladies who attend theatres and do shopping to be compelled to pass between this standing army of oglers and be often subjected to annoyances and sometimes insults.

Section 6 of the law known as the KIMBALL Act covers this and, incidentally, if rigidily inforced it will be the means of separating some of these would-bes and their $25.

trustees, and auditors I have seen no announcements, but they will doubtless come later on.

For delegates to the International Typographical Union I hear of about half a dozen certain candidates, though there are uncorroborated rumors as to others-meaning for the three delegateships belonging to the "book and job" branch of the trade. These are (giving them alphabetically) L. A. ("Gus") Wisener, George A. ("Yorky") Rinehart, J. F. McCormick, E. A. M. "Whitey") Lawson, James T. Huggins, D. W. ("Dud") Fleming, and A. F. Bloomer.

Mr. Lawson, our able president for the past two years and I. T. U. delegate to Philadelphia in 1892, is known to every member of the Union and nothing that I could say about him would add to any one's knowledge.

J. F. McCormick was for two years treasurer and his acquaintance is almost equally as wide. Though an un- locked it up I'll fire you on the spot! successful candidate last year, he goes into this campaign undismayed and sanguine.

"Dud" Fleming has served the past year as an auditor most efficiently and he likewise is well and favorably known.

The rest of us-Wisener, Rinehart, Huggins, and Bloomer-have never done anything more pretentious than committee work. But you can hardly conceive how willing we have been to assume more responsible duties and to fill higher positions, if we had only been called upon.

Now, as to uncertainties, I have heard H. Y. Brooke, Dan Chisholm, Charlie Peake, Frank Stretten, W. L. Gutelius, Clint Price, and perhaps others whose names do not occur to me.

I would like to see the field much larger-say about sixteen for the three delegateships-but I want fellows to come out whom I can beat. I don't want to see tough, cinched propositions who will give me an excuse for staying in Swampoodle during my next 'vacation, but numerous dead easy ones, who candidacy will be grease on my axle. Death of John Peter Altgeld.

John P. Altgeld, former Governor of Illinois, died Wednesday, at Joliet, Ill. from apoplexy following a speech made at a pro-Boer meeting, Tuesday night, at said city.

The political career of John P. Altgeld has been one of much interest to the people throughout this country, particularly the working classes, he always taking their side of all questions and being a strong advocate of municipal and Governmental ownership of public utilities. He was born in Prussia, December 30, 1847, and during his childhood his parents came to Richland County, Ohio, settling upon a farm. At the age of sixteen he enlisted as a volunteer in the Union army; after the close of the war he taught school. He later went to St. Louis, where he studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1872. In 1875 he located in Chicago and built up a large law practice. He was defeated for Congress in 1884, but two years later he was made Justice of the Cook County Superior Court, becoming Chief Justice in 1890. In 1892 he was elected Governor of Illinois.

During the great railway strike of 1894 his attitude caused much unfavorable comment. This strike tied up all the railroads of the West, and the destruction of property in Chicago was enormous. Upon his delay in calling out the militia, President Cleveland sent United States troops there to enforce the mandates of the United States Courts. To this action Governor Altgeld strongly protested against the invasion of the State by Federal troops.

The pardoning of the Anarchists Fielden, Schwab and Neebe did much to bring about his defeat in after years, he losing many influential friends by this action. He succeeding in amassing a large fortune and though his acts of philanthrophy he became somewhat financially distressed in late years.

Although he may have been radical in many of his acts he still had many good ones to his credit and died espousing the causing of liberty for the Boers.

Death of Arthur McNelly.

Mr. Arthur McNelly, a well-known printer of this city died at his home, No. 417 Ninth street southeast, Friday night, March 7, 1902, after about a month's illness, aged 54 years.

Mr. McNelly was born in Baltimore County, Md., in 1849, but has resided in this city since his boyhood days He was a veteran of the civil war and an honored member of Benjamin B. French Lodge No. 15, F. A. A. M., the Grand Army of the Republic, and Columbia Typographical Union, No. 101. Allied Printing Trades Label. He was employed for a great many years in the Government Printing Office.

His remains were interred in Arlington National Cemetery, Monday afternoon, the funeral being held under the auspices of the Masonic order.

Washington Jockey Club.

The management of the Washington Jockey Club, whose ad. appears in another column and whose meeting begins March 25 and ending April 12, 1902, at Bennings, have expended during the past year, in order to keep pace with its past record, upwards of $125,000 for the improvement of property and the convenience of its patrons. These improvements place this track and its appointments second to no race course in the country.

Their annual valuable stake always insure the presence of thoroughbred race horses of the leading horse owners of America, thereby placing this city as one of the foremost racing centres of the country.

The racing season this year, in this city, will comprise thirty-five daysseventeen in the Spring and eighteen in the Autumn. While the price of admission to the grand stand and paddock has been fixed at $2 a day, an inducement has been offered to the business men of Washington whereby the annual subscription has been placed at $25 per year, admitting the subscriber to grand stand and paddock every day during both meetings, or $15 a meeting.

SENATOR HOAR, of the Committee on Judiciary, has reported the bill limiting the meaning of the word "conspiracy" with an important amendment in the nature of an exception. In lieu of the provision in relation to conspiracy the following is inserted:

Unless the purpose or effect of such conspiracy shall be to create intimida-tion by a show of physical force, or the court shall find that the combination has for its purpose the occasioning of injury to the property or business of the complainant, or is likely to result in such injury, nor except such purpose be proved to the satisfaction of the bones of people who are now but mere Fleming. In fact all the candidates court, or the court find that such is likely to be the effect.

The amendment was agreed to by the majority of the committee. The amendment leaves practically the present law unchanged.

The amendment of Mr. Butler to reduce the dues from one per cent to threefourths of one per cent was non-concurred in by the Union.

During the consideration of the amendment offered by Mr. Lerch to elect three delegates from the offices under the control of the Government, and to elect one delegate from the offices not under the control of the Government, a member of one of the newspaper chapels called attention to the fact that the hour was getting late, and there was yet to come before the meeting certain legislatisn that materially affected the Down Town scale, and that it would be necessary for a majority of the Down Town members interested in that matter to retire to enable them to go to work; he requested that when the Union adjourn that they adjourn to meet on next Sunday.

The Union then adjourned to meet on Sunday, March 23, at 2.30 o'clock, to complete its work.

RICE AND HELLER'S ABLE TALK

Lodge, Machinists, Communicate Matter -Engineers, No. 77, Report Tabscott Fair -Hod Carriers' Grievance-Carpenters and Joiners, No. 190, and The Home Ice Company.

The Central Labor Union was called to order by President Hamerstrom, at Typographical Temple, Monday night. Minutes of previous meeting were read and approved.

Credentials were received from the Sheet Metal Workers certifying W. G. House; from Soda, Mineral Water, and Bottled Beer Drivers certifying Fred Miller, J. P. Connor, William Childs, W. S. Martin, and P. M. McMahon; from Paperhangers' Union, No. 420, certifying E. C. Bessett, vice W. J. Tubman, resigned; from Washington Feeders and Assistants' Union, No. 42, certifying Albert S. Nolen, vice Miss Seaton, resigned. The Committee on Credentials reported favorably upon the foregoing and they were duly obligated and seated.

Messrs. A. J. Rice and J. Heller, delegates from the United Garment Workers' Union, No. 6, of Baltimore, Md., were granted the privilege of the floor and they requested the Central Labor Union, of Washington, to use its good offices with Eiseman & Bros., who conduct a retail clothing establishment in this city but whose factory is in Baltimore, in unionizing their factory. They also requested the delegates to ask for the union label on all clothing purchased. This matter was referred to the Grievance Committee.

Delegate Bachrach, of Retail Clerks' Union, No. 262, asked to be allowed to present the business of that union as he was about to retire and would not be present at the call of unions. The request being granted he stated that all efforts had been exhausted by that union looking to the closing of certain southeast merchants at the prescribed hours, and he asked that the Grievance Committee be empowered to investigate and endeavor to adjust the matter. Request granted and so ordered.

Delegate Wilfrey, of Columbia Lodge of Machinists, inquired why the Secretary had not read a communication received from that body, whereupon the Secretary stated that the same was addressed to him as secretary of the Building Trades Section and he did not consider it the property of the Central Labor Union until after it had been submitted to the Section. The delegate explained that it was an error of address and moved that the communication be read. After much debate the matter was laid on the table.

Delegate Gorie, of Engineers' Union, No. 77, stated that Eugene Tabscott had signed a contract with that organization and was now fair to organized

Delegate Peyton, of Hod Carriers' Union, called attention to the fact that non-union wheelers were employed on the Chr. Heurich building, and requested that the Grievance Committee to whom the matter had been referred, take prompt action thereof. Request granted. Delegates from Columbia Lodge of Machinists called up the matter of a communication from their body relative to a communication from the Building Trades Section, and upon motion of Delegate Winslow the letter, which was laid upon the table, was taken up and read, whereupon Delegate Feeney moved that it be referred to the Building Trades Section. This motion prevailed and it was referred to said Sec-

Yours fraternally, E. J. RATIGAN, Chairman.

Delegate Van Ness reported that the Special Committee had investigated the Home Ice Company matter and upon the evidence obtained his organization, the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, No. 190, had placed the firm upon the unfair list, and asked that the committee be discharged as the matter was now in the hands of the Grievance Committee. Report accepted and committee discharged.

The matter of the Street Railway Employes' Union and the Washington Traction and Electric Company was then taken up, and Secretary Winslow read the status of the case as taken from the minutes. A motion to take the above company from the unfair list, after much debate, was lost.

The communication from Barbers' Union, No. 239, relating to their differences with William Edwards, at 1403 Fourteenth street northwest, and requesting that he be placed upon the unfair list, was referred to the Grievance Committee.

Death of Charles J. French.

Born in West Virginia, thirty-nine years ago, and having worked and visited nearly every city and State in the Union as a journeymen printer the earthly career of Charles J. French came to a close on Wednesday, March 26, 1902, at Sibley Hospital, after a prolonged illness of several weeks, when Death claimed him as her own.

Columbia Union's Adjourned Meeting Makes Changes in Her Code.

ANENT THE PRESIDENT'S ORDER

Much Interest Taken in Change of Existing Law-Report of the President-The New Funeral Benefit-Delegate Dickman Reports the Haines' Store Fair-Committee of the Whole Busy.

The adjourned meeting of Columbia Union, No. 101, was called to order by President Lawson, at Typographical Temple, Sunday, March 22, 1902, at 2:30 p. m.

The amendment to Art. 23, sections and 2, By-Laws, introduced by Mr. Lerch at the last meeting relative to "electing three delegates from the offices under the control of the Gov- heads of the departments in or under ernment, and one delegate from the offices not under the control of the Government," was taken up.

Mr. H. Y. Brooke offered an amendment to the same, the substance of which provided that the printers in offices outside of the control of the Government hold primaries to elect candidates, and in the event of there being three or more candidates, the two receiving the highest vote should be voted for at the election; this amendment also provided for the manner of holding said primaries. The concurred in, and the original amendment of Mr. Lerch carried.

Mr. Brockwell's substitute to Mr. Brooke's amendment to Art. 2, sec. 4, By-Laws relative to the hours of holding election on the night forces in the Government Printing Office also pre-

Mr. McCormick's amendment to Art. 12, By-Laws, to create a funeral fund and turn over $2,000 from the general in your letter. fund, was withdrawn by request.

The Union then went into Committee of the Whole, with Mr. Ennis in the chair, and considered the amendment introduced by Mr. Poole, amending the book and job scale of prices.

Chairman Hall of the Laws Committee submitted the following substitute, which, after considerable discussion because it did not provide for a similar increase for the machine scale in book and job offices, was adopted:

Book and job scale, paragraph 3, in line 10, strike out after "day work" to "with." In line 12, after "day's work" and insert: "All work done outside of the regular working hours to be charged price and one half, and all work done rate of 171/2 cents per hour extra.

The Committee of the Whole having risen, President Lawson assumed the chair and Mr. Ennis reported that the Committee had adopted the substitute following week. amending the book and job scale, and the body then adopted the same.

Mr. Dickman, delegate to the Central Labor Union, stated that Haines' Southeast Store had been taken from the unfair list by that body.

President Lawson reported the deaths of Messrs. H. H. McKeever, on Feb. ruary 21, and Arthur McNelly, on March 6, 1902, and that the increased funeral benefit of $235 had been paid for the first time, and that hereafter he He also reported, "in obedience to the had again made application and reinstructions of the Union at the Februin having the term of temporary appoint- ing final action thereon, which was dements in the Government Printing Office | cided in the negative. extended as the requirements of the service warranted, which the following by Mr. Rodier was adopted: letter will explain:

He called upon the Civil Service Commission officers, and notified the Public Printer and Secretary Ricketts. The letter was prepared and forwarded from the Public Printer requesting that such action be taken. The officers of the Union also called at the White House, and later forwarded a letter to the President asking for an interpretation of the Executive Order recently issued, whereby all officers or employes of the United States of every description, serving in or under any of the executive departments, or whether so serving in or out of Washington, were forbidden, either directly or indirectly, individually or through associations, to solicit an increase of pay, or to influence or attempt to influence in their own interest any other legislation whatever, either before Congress or its Committees, or in any way, save through the which they serve, under penalty of dismissal from the Government service.

We received notification that such action does not apply to the officers or committeemen of our Union, and will not interfere in any manner with our work before Congress, its members or committees, as set forth in the following

WASHINGTON, March 4, 1902. My DEAR SIR: The President directs me to state that on looking over your letter and the Attorney General's opinion upon it, he has come to the conclusion that the legislation to which you refer in your letter is legislation affecting not the interest of government printers as such, but of printers gener-ally; that, if this is the case, there is nothing in the President's order which in any way interferes with your continuing to interest yourself in such legislation in the future as you have in the past, nor is there the slightest need of any of the members of the association to which you refer resigning for that reason from the positions enumerated

Our hero, with all the other inmates, yelled out, "Coming up," and suiting the action to the words, was beside 'Steen's frame in a jiffy. Amid the protest of the boys, Oliver was awarded the sorts. He made an attempt to put some in his box-and adjoining ones-but it was too feeble even for him, so he turned around to the boys and for the first time in his life sung out, "'n's' to give out." But right there our genial, courteous, affable, and popular postmaster, whom we would like to see run for delegate, etc., stepped up and secured the booty, and on his way to deposit them on the foreman's desk, gave the high sign to his friend, who, by the way, never fell below his average. Soon after all was bustle near Oliver's frame and we all felt sure that Mr. Richards had put in his appearance. Oliver cleaned out his "n" box, rushed up to the aforesaid high signed friend and made his way out of the division at a 2.30 clip. A glance in Oliver's stick

Something about the Philippines.

The Philippines embrace a series of islands six hundred in number. Twelve of these only are considered worthy of the name. These have an area of 52,000 square miles. Luzon, on which has been most of of the fighting by the you please. Ed. was so delighted over Americans, is the chief island. This rior of the islands is mountainous, and some of the ranges reach the height of over 8,000 feet. These mountains are thickly wooded, and the trees are found festooned with creepers and flowering parasites of the most brilliant colors. Between the ranges lie luxuriant plains and valleys of rich fertility. Volcanic eruptions continue to a slight extent.

Rivers and streams are numerous, but are of little value as waterways, for the largest and deepest does not allow a ship of greater draft than thirteen feet. In the districts which have been under the control of the Spanish the old forests of large trees, fields of rice and golden grain are to be found.

The lakes of the Philippine Islands

The meeting of the Union last Sunday was a very interesting one, and the way in which parliamentary technicalities were sifted was pleasant to witness.  Have You Been Loaned?

The trusts and other associations of employers are using a new form of the black list. It is especially prevalent in New York and Chicago, but is reported from other sections of the country.

Each workman's record is carefully kept. If he is dissatisfied and voluntarily leaves his employment, he finds that he can not obtain employment at any of the shops controlled by the Employers' Association.

If, however, he is a nice tractable man and does not join a union or ask for more wages or complain about overtime, he is assured of more steady employment than his independent comrade. When work gets slack in his own shop he will be "loaned" to some other shop. He has nothing whatever to say about his conditions of employment or when he shall be returned to his former master. Any objection to the "loaning system" results in a very vigorous and effective blacklist. Verily organization is a convenient thing for employers.

It sounds a bit like slavery and serfdom that a workman shall be entirely at the disposal of his employers, but Don't Buy a Hat the system is coming into vogue very rapidly. When perfected, the workmen will have neither industrial, political, nor civil rights left. -Illinois Trades

Hon. J. A. Hemenway, of Indiana, Gives Good Reasons Therefor.

A MENACE TO ALL WORKINGMEN

A Speech of Vital Interest to All Workingmen, Organized and Unorganized-What Is the Value of Chinese Trade Compared With the Degradation and Ruin of Our American Labor ?-Living in Holes and Hovels, Swarming Like Vermin, Introducing Filthy Ways, Contaminating Our Moral and Physical Atmosphere With Rotten and Pestiferous Practices-The American Federation of Labor Takes a Firm Stand.

Hon. James A. Hen year ending June 30, 1903, to enforce the Chinese-Exclusion Act. He makes the first speech urging its prompt enactment. He says the Coolie shall not come to the United States or our new possessions.

I be lieve in protection of American industries, but, my countrymen, how much more important it is to protect our American wage-earner who has so much to do with making this the greatest nation on earth. Then let us delay no longer. We have before us the bill reported from the committe of our own so injure their trade with China. Why many other industries. should it make China angry? The Chinese Government and the higher classes of the Chinese people can not blame us for not wanting to have millions of coolies dumped into our country to vitiate our civilization and to swamp our labor market. There is no objection on our part to the coming here of Chinese teachers, students, merchants, and travelers on legitimate business and in a legitimate manner, and the only reason why their entrance is peril and menace. hedged about with the formalities and restrictions enumerated in the bill is in order that we may guard against the ton, Pa., in a report of the executive entrance of laborers under false pretenses in the guise of students, merchants, etc., which has been so great and so frequent an abuse in the past.

Why, then, should the Chinese Government or the Chinese privileged classes complain of the bill? And how can the bill injure our Chinese trade? There is nothing in this objection of the opposition. It is a mere scarecrow.

But I hasten to say that even if the passage of the bill should offend China seriously, and even if it should cost us every dollar of our Chinese trade, that would be infinitely better than for the bill to fail and not become a law. What is the favor of China and what is the value of our Chinese trade compared with the degradation and ruin of our American labor? At all hazards, Mr. Chairman, and whatever else may or may not happen, Chinese cheap labor must and shall be kept out of this country. It is a terrible misfortune that so much of it has already been admitted. Not another single solitary Chinese laborer should be permitted ever to set foot on American soil. The Chinese may consider it a signal evidence of mercy and forbearance that we have conceded so much to them already.

They come over here as foreigners, to remain foreigners, and living in holes and hovels and swarming like vermin, underbidding and crowding out our laborers, getting all the money they can from us and spending none of it, incurring none of our civic obligations, keeping aloof from our civilization, adopting none of our ways, introducing their own filthy ways, and contaminating the moral and physical atmosphere with their rotten and pestiferous practices. They are unlike all other immigrants. They are not wanted here, and must stay away.

This is a most serious question, Mr. Chairman, from the standpoint of American labor. No more serious question has ever come up for settlement, and none more serious ever could come up. Our American laboring men and women are subjected to quite do live on 2 cents' worth of rice a day? peril of Western and Christian civiliza-This is the practical question connected tion to-day. At the last convention of the American Federation of Labor, held at Scranofficers, the plea was made for the extension of law for exclusion of Chinese, and they said, in part:

Apart from the fact that we are workingmen, we are also American citizens, full imbued with the grand principles underlying our form of government and our present system of civilization. The introduction or continuance of an element so entirely at variance with our economic, political, social, and moral conceptions, and so utterly incapable of adaption to the Caucasian ideas of civilization, is not only dangerous to us as a class but is destructive of the various institutions we are so earnestly striving to uphold, maintain, or attain. Whatever may be the opinion of others, to us this matter does not permit a compromise.

Delegate Brinkman stated that his organization, the Carriage and Wagon Workers, had made a demand for an 8 hour day and a minimum wage scale and requested the Central Labor Union to indorse the action of that body. The request was granted.

The Musicians stated that acting in conjunction with the Bartenders' Union, they had been unable to adjust the grievance with S. H. Childs, at 485 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, and requested that the matter be referred to the Grievance Committee. The request was granted.

The Suffrage Committee reported progress.

The Grievance Committee reported that they had been unable to adjust the difficulty existing between Conrad Becker, dealer in harness and trunks, and The United Brotherhood of Leather Workers on Horse Goods, and recommend that the request of the Leather Workers that he be declared unfair to organized labor. They further recommended that this case be referred to the Agitation Committee. The report was received and the recommendation concurred in.

On motion the roll call of members was suspended and all delegates marked present.

Two or three weeks ago I suggested that we needed a few more candidates for delegate from the G. P. O. section of the delegatorial divide and that easily beaten aspirants would be welcomed in the field. In response I hear the names of Tom Bynum, Gene Smith Charlie Dietrich, and Harry O'Donnell -not at all the character of candidates asked for or desired, but husky votehustlers who cause me to lie awake nights. But as I am in this fight to stay, in my dual capacity as candidate and conservator of typographical morals I propose to show up and expose the whited sepulchres who are trying to flim flam the Union into elect- the future. To begin with, Dud Fleming connives at, encourages, and causes to as semble at each lunch time in his Morgue a disorderly crowd of backcappers whose daily joy it is to tear to tatters the reputations of honest men. Even pure-minded, blameless men like Bill d'Orsay and Percy Rhodes are maligned and put on the slab by this band of reputation pirates, of which Dud is the ringleader. I myself have suffered at their hands, so far as it is possible for such as they to blacken my lily-like life.

B. increase on the number ever received by him at a previous chapel election in this division, and is and an evidence of his growing popularity and the enterprise of his delegatorial manager, Mr. Babcock.

Mr. Sizer was re elected chairman and Mr. Moyer was in the same manner Onyun, E. Y. Fisher, D. V. Chisholm, and Frank chosen to be secretary for another term. Judge Mabrey, of the S. G. Cat., made a splendid run, the vote being 77 for Sizer; 69 for Mabrey. Mr. Moyer, who had no opposition, received 54 votes, 20 complimentary votes being cast for Mr. Root, our objectionable man, 4 for Mr. Serrano, and 3 scattering.

The many friends of Milt Smith will be pleased to learn of his recovery and return to work.

The quarterly election for chairmen of the Night Bill Force chapels resulted have a regular, sprightly correspondent. in a victory for Wear in the First, Beasley in the Second, and McKnight in the Third.

H. Y. Brooke has abandoned his intention to embark in the newspaper business at this time. There is positively no foundation for the rumor that his wages were increased to induce him to stay.

Frank Hall, of the Treasury Branch, has a new system of fractions which he will try to patent. As explained to me it will be a great space saver as well as a boon to printers whose eyesight have failed.

Johnnie Hogan handed me a piece of poetry anent the election of chairman right on the heels of my paying seven hard-earned bones to some one who knew the condition of affairs better an easy night on Tuesday, were April than I. Johnnie, it will cost you seven fooled in good fashion. The Easter bones to get that poetry in this column.

An edition-de-luxe of Mr. Henry S. Sutton's novel, "Rhoda Roland," is now in the hands of his publishers and will be ready for distribution at an early date. The publication of this work will afford the boys an opportunity to attest their loyalty to the efforts of a shopmate by securing a copy. The price a reasonable one, will not be missed from our savings and will mean much to "Maud." After all is said and done there is considerable merit in the story, and if the name of Bangs, Major or Parker were used instead of Sutton, I venture the assertion the edition would reach at least 100,000 copies.

I have had the pleasure of being introduced to a certain gentleman no less than five times, and the following day, as sure as fate, he would proceed to offer me the stony stare. Recently we met, and to my surprise, he approached me with "My dear Gaston," squeezed my hand, and inquired of "A Ped" is suffering from brain fever. and yelled, "Mike, your saloon is on fire."

Inquiry developed the information that a notice on the cooler stated that a vest containing a gold watch and sum of money found in the wash room could be secured by identification. After relieving his mind, as only "Brodie" can, with a "fantastic grouping of qualifying adjectives" on the dangers of absent-mindedness in general and giving thanks, with grace, of course, for being personally exempted S. At 3.30, however, our genial Jan wisdom-dispenser had the extreme pleasure of interviewing the finder of the vest and identifying it as his pro- Che perty. "Brodie" was awarded the Cyr 'all-mark."

Some joker who should know that a bock-beer sign with rampant goat, is the last thing that appeals to the good taste or humor of our abstenuous friend, Jimmy Harper, placed a sign of that kind on Harper's frame.

The boys who expected "index" and lily is a beaut, but the Record cluster of night-blooming cereus, with drooping head, is a picture too much for me.

Since I come to think of it (it's a proud reflection), no one borrows the Unionist in this division. We take it, winning bunch. Mr. Peake requests pay for it and esteem it a privilege so me to state that he entertains no ambi- to do. I know no meaner man than tion along this line, but wishes to thank the one who declines to take his trade his many friends for their proffered paper or denies his wife a new Easter hat.

possession and marching up to the Captain's bed chamber, where they surprised the innocent victim stretched out enjoying an after-dinner nap. Captain Ramsey's surprise can better be imagined than described. He rubbed his eyes and began to think he was the subject of some horrible nightmare or pipe-dream for there surrounding, his bedside, were some eighteen of his old time friends and comrades. He soon recovered from his astonishment and invited the conspirators down to the parlor, where cigars were produced and all were told to make themselves at Comrade G. H. Stone in a few brief remarks explained that the object of their visit was purely of a social nature and to keep alive the old ties of comradeship formed when they "drank from the same canteen." Captain Ramsey responded in his usual happy style, after which Comrade Goodhart, in a neat and appropriate speech presented Mrs. Ramsey with a beautiful bouquet, the gift of the assembled veterans.

Then followed a genuine camp fire, songs by Messrs. Dorsey, Laing, Reed, and Light, interspersed by war anecdotes, etc., until 10 o'clock, when the doors of the dinning-room were thrown open, and the "old boys" themselves were taken completely by surprise for there the entire length of the room was a table with covers laid for twenty, fairly groaning with the good things that were to supplant for the time, at least, all memories of sow-belly and

The napkin rings were of red, white, and blue, with pretty little had been made in making a co conspirator of their delightful hostess. That ample justice was done the tempting viands set before them is evinced by Don't Patronize a Dealer Who Has the fact that several of the boys, it is said, were compelled to walk the streets the balance of the night to regulate the satisfaction of having a clear head the next day as nothing stronger than coffee was indulged in.

Long before midnight a kindly goodnight was given to the host and hostess and the "old vets" departed, but not before it was intimated that some one else might in the near future be the recipients of a like invasion.

> To the Officers and Members of the > Central Labor Union:

GENTLEMEN: Your Committee have thoroughly gone into the question of admitting the delegates of Engineers Union, Local Union, No. 99, to seats on the floor of the Central Labor Union.

Your Committee are forced to the conclusion that the National Organization of the Engineers, through its officers, do not appear to be thoroughly conversant with the local conditions under which they issued a charter to No. 99, and in view of that fact, your Committee most respectfully recommend that the entire matter be referred to the National Organization of Steam Engineers, pending their decision the delegates be not admitted to the Central Labor Union.

This conclusion was arrived at from the admissions made by delegates, that part of the membership of No. 99 still retain a charter from the K. of L., same being retained as a social and beneficial association, composed of engineers.

In support of our conclusion we refer your honorable body to Section I of Article 12 of the constitution of the A.

It has occurred to me that the modes by which Shelby Smith and Joe Johnson made their initial trips to Washington (at different times, of course) might be interesting and I give the traditions for what they are worth. Personally I do not value them highly.

It is said that Shelby started from somewhere out on the prairies of the Dakotas (I think there was only one Dakota then) with a newspaper pass, with which he had journeyed successfully to some point in Illinois (probably Chicago) where a new conductor took hold at an early hour in the morning. There are at this writing two candidates for vice-president-W. G. Glenn, of the Third Division, day force, and E. B. Meritt, of the Night Proof Room. Both are good men and no mistake will be made in electing either of them. Jack Robinson has jumped the track, some say because he fears that his horseback record at the unveiling of General Logan's statue may be pulled on him. I can't find out whether Brer Abbott is a candidate or not. * * * *

Tom Doty had a vivid story in a recent number of the American Sportsman (I think that's her name) about Henry Boernstein's rail shooting down the Potomac, illustrated one time. I suspect that most of the rails Henry ever shot were located in Virginia worm fences. He rings me into it as not knowing what rail shooting is; but I know more about such things than he could photograph in a week, only I don't flaunt my knowledge on all occasions.

John J. Ottinger has been detained from the office recently by the severe illness of his wife from rheumatism. Mrs. Ottinger has been a great sufferer from this painful malady. She is now in Columbia Hospital for Women.

BALLAD OF THE SEA.

The ship sail'd away in the month of May, on a bright and a sunny morn; And the sailors true, with their eyes of blue, Laugh'd away all perils to scorn; Under full-rigg'd sails soon the coast of Wales Disappear'd in the gloom behind,

Till at last the sea, broad, dark, and free, Was their home, and their friend the wind. They glanced once more at their native shore

With a fond and a sweet farewell, For they lov'd their land and her rocky strand And ador'd every hill and dell; Then the cabin boy overcome with joy, Touch'd the string of his harp once again

And the gallant crew, with a vim anew, Join'd to sing in this sweet refrain-Wales, Wales, the land of the free, Dearer than ever art thou to me, While we roam the blue ever true to you Sweet land of the harp and song

So the sailors sang and the echo rang O'er the vast expanse of the main. And the homing-dove from the yards above Soar'd away for her loft again. And her merry flight through the disma

Was as quick as a flash of the mind, With a message true from the boy in blue To the girl he had left behind.

They sail'd away in the month of May, But, alas, they return'd no more Far away from their native shore: There in unknown graves 'neath the dark blue waves They're at rest, free from care and pain, But their spirits roam o'er the briny foam In this weird, but sweet refrain-

Wales, Wales, the land of the free, Dearer than ever art thou to me While we roam the blue ever true to you. Sweet land of the harp and song.

By a reciprocal deal with the Pennylvania and New York Central Railroads I was recently privileged to visit Schenectady, N. Y., and now that the trip was made with safety, profit and oleasure, I find it in my heart to commend the excellent passenger service of these roads, and I have no regrets to offer that the major part of the proceeds from a leave limited to five days went into the coffers of these soulless corporations. The ride from New York to Albany by the shore line was alone worth the consideration, as, for natural scenery there is much for the eye to feast upon in the shifting views of river and landscape scenery even at this season of the year. The journey by boat is one of the most charming in all of nature's choicest collections. It was my good fortune to make this voyage in the early autumn of 1865.

But Schenectady is my theme. Seventeen miles northwest from Albany is Henry Kahlert has been sick for the located this old Dutch town, which ranks fourth in the oldest settlements of the State and which has a tragic and marvelous history. The Mohawk Valley, in which Schenectady is located, was first owned by the Five Nations of Indians, who claimed title to the same. Brantley found a horeshoe and the The site of the present city or younger village where some of the earlier set-Grant Barnhart was called upon to tlers are supposed to have lived, and Indian wives. This was as early as 1642. As time went on the Indians became restless under the innovations of the whites and disturbances arose which finally culminated in the frightful massacre on the night of February 8 and the morning of February 9, 1690. Bearing on this point I quote from an

It is the boast of this people that in no place in the State or nation are there so many historical buildings yet in almost perfect state of preservation as are found within the bounds of the ancient township of Schenectady. To Go to Manila.

It is with pleasure we announce the appointment to a position in the Government Printing Office at Manila, Philippine Islands, of R. A. NELGNER, of the Fifth Division, Government Printing Office, in this city. For a number of terms Mr. NELGNER has acted as chairman of his chapel and from the words of approval heard from his co-workers he filled the position with both credit and impartiality. He leaves here about the first of May, when he will proceed to San Francisco, from whence he will set sail for the a successful dental practitioner in Albany.

The word "railroaded" typographically used has two meanings. In the daily news paper composing room it is late matter placed in the form and matrixed without correction, to be lifted and proof read for later edition. As a sub on the Congressional Record, I experienced it with another meaning-to hair space and run back lines in the solid and heavy-faced brevier and nonpareil from which that publication is printed. It is a species of blacksmithing handed down from a time when conditions were different; when the effort was, under contract, to get every word possible on a page. For neat appearance the Record should be thin-leaded and incline to double spacing rather than otherwise.

We wish him success, for he has been an active, energetic member of the Union for a number of years. He has given his time, money and brains for the best interest of our organization, and our members now have a opportunity to show how much they appreciate his services. We trust this Division, as well as the others, will not be found wanting when the votes are counted.

Arthur received his senior degrees, and others of renown have received that equipment which has shed an influence always creditable to this famous institution. To the visitor the buildings and the spacious grounds have a commanding presence, and these alone are an inspiration.

Schenectady was chartered as a city in 1798, and was then one of the largest of our American cities. It was then twelve miles by eight in extent. Joseph Yates was the first mayor. He was subsequently Supreme Court Judge and also Governor of the State of New York, and was distinguished for his "plain and practical common sense," a quality which is seemingly much in evidence with the business people of new or modern Schenectady, for what was first offered to esthetic Saratoga and contemptously refused was accepted by Schenectady and has made her the most flourishing of any along the Mohawk boundaries-all as a result of the welcome given to the General Electric Company, who were looking for a place to locate some fifteen years ago. Schenectady has always encouraged manufactories, and these have been of a diversified nature. Here are located the Ellis Locomotive Works, with a productive capacity of six hundred locomotives annually, and which give employment to about four thou- upwards of $9. sand workmen. Leather and cotton goods are also manufactured here; but the thing that has given the greatest eight weeks, three of which were spent impetus to the recent growth of the in a hospital. city is the Edison General Electric Works, which, with two smaller factories, occupy a ground area of 174 acres in 52 minutes, which gives the swifts and a floor space of 2,360,000 square something to talk about. feet. From these works electrical machinery, wire and cable and supplies are shipped to all points of the world. Branch offices are also located at every point of the globe, wherever the wizard force of electricity has reached. The pay-roll of the Schenectady plant amounts to about $100,000 weekly and ceived letters patent from this Govern- from behind. The assault took place the number of workmen employed is ment. its place. Land values have increased enormously. One piece of property in the business section for which the sum paid was $1,800 many years ago, sold recently for $57,000; but this is only one of the many instances. The demand for houses exceeds the supply. The rule is for two families to occupy one house, and still the demand is for more. The population in 1880 was a trifle over 13,- sympathy with organized labor, which is but the striving for better conditions. Even the wily New York Sun, through its special correspondent, in speaking of the wonderful growth of the city and of the new conditions was recently forced to admit that "there are few towns in New York State to-day in which unionism has a firmer footing." It is hoped that the Sun will go a step farther and show works meet for repentance by encouraging in every way possible the toilers, who, while contributing their share towards the development of the natural resources and the enrichment of others, are not altogether unmindful of their own needs and their capacity to enjoy more of the comforts of life. There seems to be little or no cause for complaint by those in the employ of the General Electric Company, who in many respects are unusually liberal and considerate. The Saturday half holiday is one example of fair treatment, and a two weeks' vacation with pay shows progress over the old conditions, and each is another step in the right direction.

When Schenectady shall have attained  the zenith of prosperity, it is possible that her population will have reached four times the present number, and ORGANIZED AND PROSPEROUS looking backward to find the first cause degree about getting the paper out on sturdy and heroic ancestry; and further proof will be found in her institutions of learning and things kindred the army of employed with contented and happy homes will bear willing testimony concerning the intelligent direction of those promoters of industry who infused new life and won for Schenectady a name known and honored the world CYCLE.

The weekly meeting of the Central Labor Union was called to order at Typographical Temple, Monday night, by President Hamerstrom.

A committee from Retail Butchers' Association was granted the floor and submitted the following draft of a bill that had been presented in the Senate this body indorsed the same and referred it to the Legislative Committee: A Bill requiring places of business in the District of Columbia to be closed on Sunday.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in Congress assembled:

Section 1. That it shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation in the District of Columbia to keep open any place of business for the sale of any goods, wares, and merchandise or articles of profit during the Sabbath day-commonly called Sunday, excepting dining and lunch rooms, apothecaries for the dispensing of medicine, and under-takers for the purpose of providing for the burial of the dead, or others for purposes of charity or necessity. If any person violates the provisions of this Act he or she shall on conviction thereof be punished by a fine of not less than ten nor more than fifty dollars, and for each subsequent offense not less than fifty nor more than one hundred and fifty dollars, or imprisonment in the jail of the District of Columbia for a period of not less than one month nor more than three months, or both fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the Court.

Sec. 2. That all prosecutions for violations of this Act shall be in the Police Court of the District of Columbia, and in the name of

On many small Western dailies where mails had to be caught it was a habit on big nights copyholder; H. V. Bisbee (chairman), to "railroad" many late galleys to catch the William R. Bolten, F. C. Crews, Henry mail, and as there was no later edition, the corrections were never made. This reminds me of an incident that happened in Garden During Cleveland's first administration the Garden City Sentinel was owned and C. A. McMullin, and W. H. Murphy, edited by a man named Colonel Cutant, who was superintendent of a Sunday school and many other things. He had a jolly wag of a son who was proofreader on the paper. The Colonel also had a young wife who was the pet detestation of her stepson, the proofreader, and as he never ceased kicking about her, the boys jollied him a great deal about it. The telegraph report was run out in skeleton or unedited form, and on small items the comps supplied their heads or legend lines. A crippled fellow named Jack Anderson, known to many of the oldsters and than whom no whiter man ever lived one night took out a "take" of a small item from Washington which intimated that Mrs. Cleveland was expecting an heir. While cogitating on a suitable head for the item it occurred to Anderson to run in a "jolly" on young Cutant, who, he supposed, would mark out the head on the proof, so he supplied this heading, "So is Mrs. Cutant" (meaning the live ashore. I wish the bride and groom now add them (with Whitehead on stepmother). It was a late galley and got "railroaded" without being proved. Anderson forgot about it until he was in bed. Then he got up and went to the office only to find the edition run off. He destroyed the dupe and went home. The town was in a furore next day. Cutant cussed more and louder than any other Sunday school superintendent on record. It took a leading editorial to explain that it was all a mistake, and this made Cutant more ridiculous. A heavy reward was offered for the culprit, but, although every printer in town knew all about it, no one told Cutant.

IN JUSTICE TO MR. L. M. MORTON. Newspapers generally place the fullest condence in their correspondents in furnishing the news, but it frequently occurs this confilence is misplaced, and the Intelligencer regrets that it was deceived by its representative, Mr. Morrison, who furnished the acount of the fire which occurred at Salem, W. Va., on the night of December 14, 1901. In a dispatch to this paper serious reflections were cast upon the character of Mr. L. M. Morton, the editor and owner of the Salem Express, in intimating that leading business men suspected him of having started the fire. Since that time the Intelligencer, by rigid and thorough investigation, has been convinced beyond a doubt that it did Mr. Morton a gross, although unintentional, injustice, and takes this method of making all the reparation that lies within its power, re-Morton in such an opprobrious position before the public.

The statement of the Intelligencer's correpondent that Mr. Morton was missing after the fire was wholly untrue. Mr. Morton was not only present but aided to the best of his ability in extinguishing the flames, and did not leave Salem until two months after the

From Manila.

MANILA, P. I., February 21, 1902. Since I wrote last a party of us went up to Dagupan, the last station on the only railroad in the Philippines-a ride of about 130 miles; cost, $7.50; time eight hours. The cars are not so bad, FOR DELEGATE: that is, the first and second class (we traveled first). The natives (googoos) travel in the third class, and the cars were crowded. There was not very much to be seen, although one gets an idea of the country. We went up one day and returned the next. Parts of the valley are well tilled, mostly for rice, although we saw some corn, sugar, and nipa fields; plenty of banana and cocoanut trees. The natives sell eatables at all the stations. The first class cars are American built-cane seated-comfortable. Dagupan is not much of a place, and we had hard wark in getting accommodations to sleep. Enjoyed the trip though. I brought two bolos from the native policeman, paid $3 for one and $1.50 for the other. The first is a good one. I got a small collection of sea shells from a young fellow there, also an old razor used by Chinamen, a chevron from the uniform of a dead insurgent covered with blood, and a few other souvenirs. Yesterday seventeen of us boys, all printers except four, hired a launch and went up the Pasig River to Laguna Bay, and we all had a delightful time. Parts of this territory have always been hostile to the Americans, and only a month or so ago some of the ports were; but we found everything very quiet and pleasant. We FOR DELEGATE: had a photograph of the group taken on a hill, and several others taken among the natives. We stopped at two towns. Went to see a cock fight at Binangon, and nearly all the boys FOR AUDITOR: won some money. Had a jolly time coming home-everybody singing and feeling rather exuberant. There are villages all the way up-nearly sixteen miles. It was quite a sight to see them washing themselves in all their naturalness, and the way they wash the clothes -pounding on the stones. Got a photo of a church in Pasic, which had been shelled by the Americans.

My bolos are 28 inches long. I want a small collection of good ones, and of the hats they wear here.

While up in Dagupan we got some fine straw hats. I paid $8 for mine, which would cost $15 here. It is very finely woven and better than any I have seen. It takes about six weeks f labor to make one. Kendall got one for $11 that it takes two months to weave. You can get hats cheap here, but not like these; hats like Kendall bought would cost $50 in the States.

Things are yet in an incomplete state here. The building is not nearly finished and it will be some time before we will be in full operation. They are very slow with the building, but it has given us much needed time to get the office work in shape. They have put up one machine temporarily and it is already busy. register, and it will quit being so arbitrary, obnoxious, and grasping. Curtailment of patronage will teach it that the public does have some rights which it is bound to respect. The passage of depurient resolutions were that or denunciatory resolutions won't hit or hurt the trust, but a general letting up on beef eating for a while would bring the monopoly to terms. Moreover, it would be better for most people if they would eat less meat. There are various nutritious substitutes for meat which lon't paralyze the pocket-book. Now, if the thousands who read THE TRADES UNIONIST would determine to eat less meat, or none whatever (by far the better plan), they would put a dent in the great octopos that would discourage further attempts at creating fictitious values. In 1895, when these pirates who run the stock yards raised the price of beef, the writer simply stopped using it, and in a few days the gastronomic tendency was gratified by prices being restored to normal conditions. Concerted action by Wash ington beef eaters might not seriously cripple the trust, but as all great reforms must have a beginning, the sentiment against thus being bled might become general, and thereby end an evil that s robbery, pure and simple.

Let us profit by the golden sacrifice of the tea drunkards of Boston, and in scribe upon our banners the noble axiom of Patrick Henry. As men can not always thrive by the sacrifices of their sires, it is up to the consumer to double-back on the terminus of the slaughter house.

The True Condition of Affairs Existing During the American Federation of Labor Convention in That City - The Typographical Union to Stand by Contracts With Employer-The Failure to Form a Pressmen's Union Three Years Ago.

SCRANTON, PA., April 25, 1902. TO THE TRADES UNIONIST:

I have read with interest the editorial "The Unvarnished Truth," in the issue of April 10, defending Secretary Frank Morrison of the A. F. of L., in his action concerning the Scranton Typographical Union label on the Federation proceedings.

Your version of "The Unvarnished Truth" is correct, and the American Pressman displays one of two traits of character-either profound ignorance of craft conditions, or a desire to antagonize the best interests of organized labor, by stirring up strife and dissention among Unions which ought to be working in peace and harmony, one with the other.

In the literal sense of the term there is not and never has been an Allied Trades Council in the city of Scranton, and, judging from the sentiment aroused as a result of the fight conducted by the pressmen since last November, there never will be one so long as the present tactics of these people are continued.

Scranton Typographical Union is essentially a progressive and aggressive organization, else it could not hold the popular position it does in this staunchly organized, populous, industrial community. For over thirty-five years it has headed the battles of trades unionism in the Lackawanna Valley. It has never shirked the responsibilities of organized labor; and has ever extended its aid in the upbuilding of trades unionism in every branch of industry It is not supposed that fireman and no one, so well as the pressmen of

You will pardon the length to which I have gone on this subject; but I could not resist the temptation to throw a little more light on the matter than was possible for you to give in your article. The Unvarnished Truth."

There is nothing in the condition of the abusiveness indulged in. The fact caused his absence recently. is that there were enough Philadelphia pressmen cards in Scranton to organize a union for over three years before they applied for a charter notwithstanding he efforts made to have then do so. Having refused overtures leading to securing the Allied label three years ago, Scranton Pressman's Union will necessarily await the expiration of the Typographical Union agreement before they attain their heart's desire.

Down-Town Delegates.

EDITORS THE TRADES UNIONIST: During the nominations for delegates to the I. T. U. Sunday, April 20, 1902, reference was made on two occasions "that the Times had never had a delegate and that it was up to that paper this year." This statement was made on the floor of our union by two of our members whose memory is either failing very fast or who had another object in viewthat of misleading our members who do not keep in close touch with union affairs. I find during the past week, not only in the G. P. O. but also the branches, this story going around "Why the Post had the delegate last ought to go to that paper." For the benefit of our members who are a little rusty on the down town situation and also our new members, I have taken from the official records of the union the following data bearing on delegates elected down town since the Post was unionized in 1884:

year, and the Times never had one; it

Post 1884 to 1901.

Star 1884 to 1901. W. W. Nolle...... 1888 Tom M. Lawler... 1894 Don L. Murray... 1901 Wm. E. Shields ... 1890 H. F. Sauter.... 1900

Times 1894 to 1901.

B. and J. 1884 to 1901. G. M. Ramsey. 1885 E. J. Hall. 1890 D. S. Hussey. 1892 Shelby Smith. 1896

This record covers a period of 18 years for the Star, Post, and book and job, and 8 years for the Times, that paper's first morning edition appearing March 18, 1894.

Further than this Tom Lawler hardly can be classed as a down-towner, as he was employed but a short while on the Post, although when elected he was employed down town. Shortly after the election he went to the G. P. O. and went to the convention as a G. P. O. employe. However, to be fair I have put him in the above table.

One other item I want to mention and that is that the Post is now and has been for years by far the largest chapel down town.

I believe in an honest and fair campaign hence my reason for submitting the above facts to the membership for their consideration.

Respectfully, FRANK S. LERCH.

TO THE POETS OF THE STAFF.*

By J. L. R.

Soulful songs come from "above," Now of dinners, now of love, Full of melody's the staff. Moving strains of joy and wee Come to listening ears below— Nectar for our souls to quaff.

Marquis (Don) sings of his love, Likens her to saints above; Hails love's glowing rising sun. All the world is bright to him— Love is life, and life is vim. Love and life are just begun.

Flavel, passe, shakes his head, Singing requiems to some dead

But remembered "lost Lenore."
Wails of sunset, ebbing tide—
Love is sorrow, and his bride,
Youth a mem'ry, nothing more.

Then above love's mold'ring tomb
Visions rise dream of dining room—
Sherry's mayhap, or old Del.'s,
Where is seen love's "afterglow"—
Bird and bottle, veuve Cliquot.
In that dreamland now he dwells.

Dream your dreams, oh, staff above;
Now of dinners, eke of love.
Airy, fairy pipe dreams they:
Love is youthful drink and meat,
Life is dinner, fast, repeat—
Each is copy. Grind away!

> Amos J. Cummings was sixty-one years old. He was born at Conkling, Broome County, N. Y., on May 15, 1841, of Scotch-Irish parentage. His father was a clergyman in moderate circumstances, who moved to Irvington, N. J., and became the editor and publisher of the Christian Palladium and later the Christian Messenger. second division, sixth corps, Army of the Potomac, serving throughout the war and receiving honorable discharge. In July, 1864, he was one of the four compositors in the office of the New York Tribune who remained at their post and fought the mob at the time of the draft riots. At the battle of Fredericksburg he distinguished himself by ericksburg he distinguished himself by gallantry in action and received the Congressional medal of honor for con-

At the close of the war Mr. Cummings returned to New York and once more resumed newspaper work. His ability attracted the attention of Horace Greely, who placed him in charge of the weekly Tribune. He afterward became night editor, city editor, and political editor of the daily Tribune. His service covered a period of over twenty years in journalism in New York. He had charge of the political department of the Tribune during the first Grant campaign. In 1879 he was made managing editor of the Sun, which was then an almost unknown enterprise, its circulation being small and its influence limited. Mr. Cummings inspired it with new life, and for years labored and acquired a reputa-tion for himself second to that of no journalist in the country. He was probably the best general newspaper man of his day.

In the fall of 1886 he was elected to Congress. On the 17th of March following he became the editor of the Evening Sun and remained in that capacity until the convening of Congress in December. The Evening Sun under his administration became one of the leading evening newspapers of the metropolis. He declined a renomination in 1888, but in the fall of 1889 was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the Hon. S. S. Cox. He was a member of the Fiftieth, Fifty-first, Fifty-second and Fifty-third Congresses. He was elected to the Fiftygresses. He was elected to the Fiftyfifth Congress, and has been the Representative of the Tenth New York district ever since.

In all his Congressional career Mr. Cummings was noted for his devotion fo the cause of labor, and his earnest support of all measures brought before the House in the interest of the workingman. The increase in the salary of the letter-carriers throughout the country was a matter which he pressed be-fore Congress, and it was due entirely to his efforts that the measure to abolish compulsory pilotage was defeated.

He was widely traveled and it was his boast that he had set type and caught fish in every State in the Union. He has been a member of the New York Typographical Union, No. 6, for about forty years. He served several years as a member of the board of trustees of the Union Printers, Home, maintained by the International Typographical Union, at Colorado Springs, Col., for its aged and incapacitated members. He was also for many years the commander-in-chief of the Loyal Legion, and a member of the Grand Army of the Republic.

UNDER the caption of "Employing Printers Organize" in a local daily it is announced there was a largely attended meeting Monday evening for the "purpose of forming an organization to further the interests of the trade."

Now as all organizations and meetings have a purpose in view or a mission to fulfill we are at a loss to know the need for purpose of anything like this in Washington where the employer and employe have generally managed to get along amicably. But we notice that associations, like politics, produce queer bedfellows, as a perusal of the list discloses the major portion of the assemblage to be employers in offices wherein the Allied Printing Trades Label is conspicuous for its absence upon their production, and some who are even inimical to union labor.

THE labor organizations in Buffalo, N. Y., and vicinity, are making arrangecity of Buffalo, from May 18 to May 24. inclusive. The manufacturers of this country and Canada, who are using the label on their product, have been invited to send on their displays, and many have done so. As this is the first carnival of its kind ever held in this country, its outcome is being closely watched with interest by the friends of the union label. It is said that articles bearing the label, from the automobile down to the smallest wares, will be on

The unions of Niagara Falls are making an effort to have the exhibition moved there after it closes in Buffalo. Unions in other manufacturing centers would do well to copy after Buffalo by having such carnivals held in their vicinity. The largest hall in Buffalo has been secured, wherein all kinds of goods bearing the label of union workmanship can be seen.

DEATH OF C. C. H. MOXLEY. Well-Known Printer of Fighting

C. C. H. Moxley, well known to the printing fraternity in this city, having been employed down town and in the Government Printing Office as compositor for a number of years, died

Mr. Moxley had been in poor health for the past year and his illness finally terminated in paralysis of the throat, from which his death resulted after an operation to give relief to the sufferer. FOR AUDITOR: Some years ago owing to failing health he could no longer ply his vocation as a compositor and was transferred to a position as watchman in the Government Printing Office. This he finally FOR AUDITOR: had to relinquish.

Mr. Moxley was born in Montgomery county, Maryland, in 1839. His father speak was the military record of his family, and well he might as his grandfather fought in the Revolutionary war; his father served in the Mexican war; he defending his country in the Rebellion, and his son enlisted and saw service in the Spanish-American war, having shortly returned from the Philippines.

Mr. Moxley participated in twentysix hard fought battles, and was wounded five times, being mustered out in Louisville in 1865. Of him his captain said he was a good and true soldier to whom no duty was too hard to perform; no order too severe to carry out.

The funeral, under the auspices of the G. A. R. and Union Veterans' Legion, took place from Douglass M. E. Church, Eleventh and H street northeast, Monday, May 5, 1902, the pastor, caused by the resignation of Chairman GEO. A. & WILLIAM B. KING, McGarraghy was held. Messrs. Harper, Nevils and Fletcher were placed in nomination, and the vote stood thus: Harper, 43; Nevils, 35; Fletcher, 12. Jimmie Harper is now our chairman. The following night (Saturday) a meeting was called for the election of a secretary. Williams and Halsey were placed in nomination. Williams was elected by four majority, the vote standing 45 to 41. Mr. Clements made a motion to have a committee of three from the Record force to draft suitable resolutions of sympathy and respect to the late Amos J. Cummings. The motion was carried and Chairman Harper appointed a committee which drafted appointed a committee which drafted the following:

WHEREAS, In the death of Amos J. Cummings, the typographical fraternity have to mourn the loss of one who, for years a fellow-laborer in our life-work, yet by rare ability and mental strength had risen, a man amongst men, to a place of honor in the Congress of our nation; and
WHEREAS, With character but broadened and ennobled by self-achieved honors; "forgetting not one round of the ladder of his elevation;" undazed by its helght, with widened horizon he scanned the mass of that tolling humanity whose needs and desires he knew so well. He was ennobled; not by his political success; not by his achievement of Congressional honor; not in his recognition by mental peers in public life; but in his proad humanity; in his fidelity to every trust in him confided; in his readiness to meet and greet the friends of earlier life; in the democratic simplicity of this man was he ennobled; and for this was he revered by us and esteemed by all.

WHEREAS, In Amos J. Cummings the printers had a friend true as steel of that composing rule which with his Union card he had borne for forty years, invariably responding with ready efficiency to demands upon his time or his influence in behalf of any measure calculated to advance the interest of the Union printer; and
WHEREAS, it is but meet that we, the compositors engaged in the issuance of the Congressional Record, wherein have been printed the speeches of one whose every word was for betterment of the mass of American citizenship, our workingmen, should express, though with lamenting impatience, our sense of Joss irreparable; therefore be it

Resolved, That in the death of Amos J. Cummings we have lost a friend and benefactor, the cause of trades unionism a champion, and our nation a legislator whose voice was ever raised in cause of right; that as

Members of Columbia Union may congratulate themselves upon the fact that they can not go wrong in making a choice among the various candidates for office. The trouble with most of us will be that, in the embarrassment of candidatorial riches, we will have to scratch a lot of good men and true for whom we would like to vote.

It is true that the perspiring candidate is entitled to considerable sympathy, for the mental and physical strain upon him is very great. But while you have sympathy to throw away don't forget the poor, bewildered voter whose mind is worn and torn in the effort to determine whether his choice pearance, or tailor-madeness of clothes, or smilingness of countenance, or oiliness of tongue, or gladness of hand, or some other of the nesses which may characterize a candidate.

The meeting in memory of the late Hon. Amos J. Cummings at Chase's Grand Opera House last Sunday, was one which will be remembered for a long time by all who attended. The music was noticeably fine, the addresses were all well delivered and appropriate to the occasion, and the effect as a whole was impressive in the best sense of the word, without being funereal. It was such a tribute to the memory of the dead as kings can not command nor money buy. Those in charge of the exercises deserve the thanks of the Union.

Donohue Bros. will probably unionize their establishment from top to bottom in a short time. This will be a great victory for the Chicago printing trades.

It isn't fair to induce a merchant to put in a line of union goods unless you intend to purchase yourself, recommend him to others, advertise his wares, and defend him when need be. A stock of uncalled for goods on a merchant's shelves is scarcely an inducement for him to advance union sentiments.

Private Reading Rooms—Day and Evenings. Letters prepared in plain penmanship or typewriting by a stenographic clerk. This Philosophical Library School is directly and solely established for reasoners. The literature embraces the lessons and demonstrations of the philosophical world now. The library will be progressive and up-to-date. Classical, Rational Philosophy is the sine qua non.

NOTICE.—Philosophy, as now taught, elevates and liberates the minds of the people from the degradation and slavish faith consequent to the belief in the reason-murdering phanton, namely, the Ghost-Soul of the Theologs. The swarm of evils that flow from this myth alone is enough to envolve and swamp thousands of worlds of people in trepidation and misery: Gods to make, bless or damn it; devils and demons to ensare it; ghosts and fairies to affright and terrorize it. All these myths, and there are myriads of them, with their innumerable doings, etc., occupy the minds of the ignorant and superstitious their whole life long. Beware, Americans! Life is short.

The conscious universe, as explained by rational philosophy, is unity, is uniformity, is all reason, and is all law, in all things, in all times, and everywhere; understand it and you will be free: stop reasoning and you are a slave at once.

NOTES.

Forget it.

The Specification pied Old General

Results considerably. The hog combine went down in the usual way-tail enders. John S. Leech and Edwin C. Jones are still at Manila, P. I.

Did the "Major Herbert Campaign were no losers. Committee" turn the trick?

In the May handicap, 1903, Harry O'Donnell will be hard to catch. "Ike" Wear and Tom Bynum are tied for "high man honors"-1,013

Fleming and O'Donnell were neck aud neck, but Dud took the water jump first and won.

The Job Room, under the "Peerless" leadership of Dick Croker (F.N.) Whitehead, did the trick.

Baltimore Results.

BALTIMORE, May 21.—The following was the result for I. T. U. delegates held here to-day: Samuel D. Bateman, 178; George O. Rippard, 74; Ceorge W. Sindall, 73; C. N. Steigelman, 143, and William H. Stubbs, 200.

C. L. U. and Builders' Agreement. According to the terms of an agreement reached Friday afternoon at a joint conference of the Executive Board of the Master Builders' Association and tral Labor Union, all those members of Federation of Labor employed in build-Wednesday returned to work Saturday morning. The understanding is, how-ever, that this agreement shall last for only two weeks, by which time it is hoped that the labor difficulties which caused the lockout will have been ad-

Following is the text of the agreement signed at the conference: ment signed at the conference:

Pending adjustment of the present difficulties, to be terminated in two weeks' time, dating from May 19, 1902, it is agreed that the Master Builders will reinstate all members of those organizations connected with the Council of Allied Building Trades of the Central Labor Union who were temporarily suspended on the 14th instant.

That the Council of Allied Building Trades of the Central Labor Union will not engage in any sympathetic strikes, and permit those members of said Council who were called out to return to work.

members of said Council who were called out to return to work. JOSEPH RICHARDSON, President Master Builders' Association. W. E. SPIER, Secretary Master Builders' Association, JOHN HAMERSTROM, President Central Labor Union. C. W. WINSLOW, Secretary Central Labor Union.

Credentials Received - Amendment to Constitution-The National Engraving Company Matter-Grievance Committee Busy-The Carriage Makers and Their Unfair-Other Matters.

President Hamerstrom called the regular weekly meeting of the Central ing trades who were locked out last Labor Union to order Monday night, at Typographical Temple.

Credentials were received from Wood, Wire, and Metal Lathers' Union, No. 9, certifying Messrs. W. Manoney and W. B. Inscoe, vice Messrs. Traber and Osgood.

A communication from the International Broom Makers' Union request ing this body to give their blue label, generous, loyal and unstinted support. Matter referred to organizers.

The following communication from Washington Photo Engravers' Union, No. 17, was referred to the Grievance Committee:

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 16, 1902 To the Central Labor Union:

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 16, 1902

To the Central Labor Union:

BROTHERS:

The National Engraving Company of this city has taken a stand against Photo Engravers, No. 17. For two years the proprietors had a contract with this union in which they agreed to employ none but members in good standing in No. 17. At the last meeting of the union all the men employed by the National Engraving Company withdrew and joined the ranks of a seceding organization. The employers were waited on and informed of the matter and were requested to replace the scabs with union men; they refused to interfere one way or the other or try to influence the men in any way. Acting on the protest of Columbia Typographical Union, No. 101, and this union's protest, the Secretary of the Allied Printing Trades Council removed the label of the council from the shop. The establishment is non-union and unfair and is so declared by Photo Engravers' Union, No. 17, and the Allied Printing Trades Council. Your endorsement of our action is earnestly requested.

Fraternally,

W. PALMER HALL, President.

Thanks, ladies and gentlemen!

H. Thomas Elder, for many years H. Thomas Elder, for many years one of the most prominent members of Boston Typographical Union, died at his residence, Arlington Heights, a suburb of Boston, on May 10. His funeral was on the 14th, at which were many members of Boston Union, besides representatives of Masanic and other fraterresentatives of Masonic and other frater resentatives of Masonic and other fraternal and benevolent societies. The pallbearers were all employees of the Herald, with which Mr. Elder was connected for many years—Superintendent and State. I first knew him in 1872, and when I next saw him, in 1893, though I had changed in appearance as radically as a person could—from 20 years and 118 pounds to 41 years and 195 pounds-he knew me as soon as he heard my voice.

Tom Elder had been president of Boston Union two successive years and was a delegate therefrom to the I. T. U. at Chicago in 1880 and at New York in He was always deeply interested and a power in the politics of Boston Union. He leaves a widow and a daughter.

I received a letter the other day from John ("Quaddy") Douglass, of Boston, and though he and Tom Elder were for a lifetime intimate friends, and he knew Tom was an old-time friend of mine, he Tom was an old-time friend of mine, he never mentioned Tom's death, though it had occurred within a week. It was simply a case of forgetfulness. He is simply the most forgetful man I ever knew. Douglass was married late in life, and the Boston boys tell a story of that event illustrative of his great failing. A few days after the wedding he returned to work on the Herald and returned to work on the Herald, and when the night's work was over he went to his old boarding house, and not find-ing his night key he rang the bell. "Who's there?" asked the landlady

The Plymouth (Mass.) Free Press of April 25 contained a picture and biographical sketch of Benjamin Drew, a proofreader in the G. P. O, during the '80's, who is now living, at the age of 90 years, in that city, which was his birthplace. Mr. Drew was for many years an educator, a school house in Minneapolis, Minn., being called the Drew School, in his honor. He will be remembered by all the older employees here for his great general imformation, his uniformly good nature, and his love his uniformly good nature, and his love of a joke. About 1888 a blank was sent around the office for the employes to fill in—"Are you a Union soldier, or the widow or orphan of a soldier?"
Mr. Drew, then 76 years old, filled it in "Orphan of a soldier," saying, "My father was a soldier of the war of 1812." A few days later, Mr. Drew was discharged, but it was not thought that ocose answer had anything to do

A talk with Billy ("Goatsy") Gardiner the other day brought to mind an incident connected with the death of President Garfield, which I think I have related before; but I am getting old enough to tell the same story twice. The National Republican was the first newspaper in the world to announce Garfield's death, the form containing the bare announcement being prepared, stereotyped, and put on the press every day during his long illness. When the news came the press was started. Billy Gardiner, who was subbing in the office, procured a hundred papers and started out to make a few dimes. There was such a mad rush for the papers—it was quite early in the evening—that he threw them down on the sidewalk and the employer as to his duties. Why not occasionally suggest something like

"Always see that your employee has good wages. You can not pay him to much for faithful service. Give him comfortable surroundings and the best tools, materials, and appliances with which to work. Do not crowd or overwork him; no one can do his best work when hurried.. If sickness or other disaster overtakes him, continue his wages; he has all the greater need for money at such times. Remember that his interests are yours as well, and that the more desirable you make his position, the better service he will render. Do not treat him as a scoundrel, anxious to defraud you; more scoundrels ious to defraud you; more scoundrels are made than reformed by such a course. Take him into your confidence: your interests being mutual, he should be kept informed," etc.

But no; heaven is not that close yet. So I suppose we will continue to have lop-sided advice.

Day Record.

The way in which the meeting in memory of Amos J. Cummings impressed those who attended suggests the thought that it might be a good thing for Columbia Union to hold a meeting annually, devoted to appro-priate music and addresses. Franklin's birthday is the seventeenth of January, a date which would be quite convenient. Of course the Union is first of all a business organization. But there is no reason why it should not, incidentally at least, be something in addition to that. And, come to think about it, such meetings as that proposed might have some value from a business point of view; for their effect upon the general public would un-doubtedly result in benefit to the cause of unionism at large. They might likewise do some good in developing the esprit de corps of the membership of the union itself. There is surely enough of the literary and educational spirit in our organization to successfully inaugurate such an anniversary What do you think about it? How does "Franklin Day" strike you as an ornamental feature of Columbia Typographical Union, No. 101?

During the absence of Messrs. Fulenwider and Newell, on account of sick-ness, Messrs. Murray and Maloney have developed into first-class "black" men.

Before this issue of the paper has gone to press the smoke of the campaign will be cleared away, and the defeated candidates will be trying to explain how it all happened.

The many friends of J. C. Armstrong, who worked for a number of years on the Post and Times, will be sorry to hear of his death. He has been unable to work since September last.

We are glad to see that E. C. Saltzman is still on the bank, as he is very accomodating and has proved himself thoroughly competent and efficient. Of course, he can't please everybody.

The veterans of the Spanish-American War were given a half holiday on Wednesday to attend the unveiling of the statue to the boys in blue who gave up their lives that Cuba might be free from Spanish tyranny.

We have enough confidence in the good judgment of the majority of the members of our Union to lead us to the conclusion that they will pay no attention to the silly rumor circulated to the effect that the men in authority in this office were particularly interested in the election of either one candidate or the other for President of our organization. This Philosophical Library School is directly and solely established for reasoners. The literature embraces the lessons and demonstrations of the philosophical world now. The library will be progressive and up-to-date. Classical, Rational Philosophy is the sine qua non.

NOTICE—Philosophy, as now taught, elevates and liberates the minds of the people from the degradation and slavish faith consequent to the belief in the reason-murdering phantom, namely, the Ghost-Soul of the Theologs. The swarm of evils that flow from this myth alone is enough to envolve and swamp thousands of worlds of people in trepidation and misery: Gods to make, bless or damn it; devils and demons to ensnare it; ghosts and fairies to affright and terrorize it. All these myths, and there are myriads of them, with their innumerable doings, etc., occupy the minds of the ignorant and superstitious their whole life long. Beware, Americans! Life is short.

The conscious universe, as explained by rational philosophy, is unity, is uniformity, is all reason, and is all law, in all things, in all times, and everywhere; understand it and you will be free: stop reasoning and you are a slave at once.

Unused Leave of Absence Cases. WASHINGTON, D. C., May 15, 1902. EDITORS TRADES UNIONIST.

GENTLEMEN: With the desire that your readers and our clients may be gress of the claims for pay for unused leave of absence at the Government Printing Office, we will endeavor to send you frequent reports.

Some weeks ago the appeal to the Supreme Court on behalf of the United States was perfected and we immediately had a motion made to advance the cases to an early hearing on the ground that the pay of a class of Government employes was affected and that a decision was desired.

This motion to advance, although supported by the Assistant Attorney-General, was denied by the Supreme Court, but the court noted that the action was taken without prejudice, and we will at the very first opportunity renew the motion and make another effort to secure an early hearing.

The delay caused by this refusal of the Supreme Court to bring the cases up ahead of their regular place on the calendar is very much regretted since we had hoped to have the claims paid by this Congress, but it is one of the stumbling blocks in the course of litigation against which none of us can provide.

We want those interested to understand that the cases will be prosecuted with the greatest possible haste and vigor, and with due regard to the interests involved.

It will now be impossible for those employed on the temporary and emergency rolls during this session to secure their pay for leave of absence upon discharge without making a special and individual claim for the same, dependent upon the decision of the Supreme Court. If these employes will communicate with us immediately upon being relieved their claims can be filed and settled with those now on file.

> Yours respectfully, GEORGE A. & WM. B. KING.

Washington in 1903.

In the last few days there has been discovered to be quite a sentiment in favor of asking the I. T. U. to hold its 1903 meeting in Washington. It will then have been twenty-four years since Washington was the meeting place (1879), there having been a previous meeting here in 1868. At the 1879 convention Washington captured the I. T. U. presidency in the person of the late SAMUEL HALDEMAN, the officers then being elected by the convention.

Our Union is now out of debt, and the necessary expense attendant on entertaining the delegates will be but a trifle for our large membership. A sufficient sum will be subscribed by the business men for the sake of having the convention held here. If little unions like Birmingham, with about nearly 2,000 members, can do so.

If the convention is desired no the time to begin the work looking to organized labor, Mr. Frizzell took the motion will be made at the next union meeting to appoint a committee to look after the matter and instructing our delegates to Cincinnati to use all endeavors to secure the convention.

MR. F. N. WHITEHEAD was the first to give public utterance to the sentiment for Washington, at a social meeting of printers, and the suggestion received rounds of applause.

FLOTSAM AND JETSAM.

The election is over and the action of the membership meets general approbation. In the selection of delegates to the I. T. U., wise discrimination was shown, and the active agents of wise discrimination contributed in no small degree to the result. There were professional agents and amateur agents-in fact, almost every one was willing to advise in the choice of delegates. Some think I did not receive as many votes as I should have received, but I draw consolation from Herbert and I can shave, while it may the fact that probably none of the other candidates did either. Mr. Frizzell is now the secretary and actively interested in the American Building and Loan Association, with offices at 907 G street northwest-an institution offering peculiarly profitable inducements for the patronage of the thriftyminded. For quite a number of years I worked with Mr. Frizzell, and we both figure in a photograph of the Record Proof Room force taken a little over a dozen years ago.

All his life Mr. Frizzell has been a sterling, consistent union man, and a little circumstance in which he figured comes up in my recollection. > "I now understand trades unionism. Heretofore I have been its enemy, but you will never again hear of me as opposing labor organizations."

Certainly one "agnostic," the one who pens these lines, is sufficiently acquainted with the life of the beautiful Christ to remember that touching paragraph wherein he compromised with the rabble by commanding: "Let him that is without sin cast the first stone.'

Let those who dredged the muck heaps of the past to the discomfiture of a brave, unselfish, and fearless man (hardly more than a boy, at that) comfort themselves with the assurance that they have met with the commendation of the Scribes and Pharisees, but woe to the ambitious among them who have flaws in their armors, for "agnostics" are not charged with the duty of "turning the other cheek" when smitten.

Meantime I trust the paragraphist of of the Second will confine his literary efforts to the commonplaces of the Second, his adoration of his "worthy foreman," and the production of resolutions eulogizing whomesoever may happen to be a rung in the ladder of permancy of position in the printing office, and that he cease misrepresent-J. In Cleveland a clause in the latest franchise granted requires that in case of dispute the company shall select two men, the employes two, and the mayor of the city shall act as the fifth member of a board to arbitrate all differences. Another clause provides that the men shall not work more than ten hours in fourteen out of every twenty-four. This rule abolishes the "swing" runs, as the men are assured that they will have at least ten hours to themselves at a stretch every day instead of having two or three turns and not getting more than four or five hours off for rest at one time.

President Hamerstrom called the regular weekly meeting of the Central Labor Union to order Monday night at Typographical Temple.

President Hamerstrom stated that the Executive Committee had arranged for a meeting with the Master Builders' Association and requested that said committee retire. Delegate Pletcher, of the Machinists, was called to the chair and Delegate Dietrich, of the Printers, acted as Secretary.

Credentials were received from the Oil Wagon Drivers, No. 269, certifying T. H. Rowland, W. C. Bergman, R. V. Smith, J. W. Brown, and A. J. Dixon; from Painters and Decorators, No. 368, certifying J. W. Bowie, George Seiben, Lewis, and Macnichol; from Photo- as a souvenir of the unpleasantness. Engravers Union, No. 17, certifying Newton Hammer, vice E. G. Leicht, removed; from Brotherhood of Railway Carmen of America, No. 68, certifying Charles T. Cross, J. W. Higdon, George Matheny, H. R. Price, and Charles H. Maroel. After favorable report of Committee on Credentials they were obligated and seated.

Musicians Protective Union, No. 161, communicated requesting that this body place the Chevy Chase Lake summer resort and that branch of the Capital Traction Railway Company running thereto upon the unfair list as they had been unable to have the management employ Federation musicians. Referred to the Grievance Committee.

Plumbers and Gas Fitters Union, No. 5, were granted their request that they be allowed to withdraw the name of a certain firm which they had recommended be placed upon the unfair list.

The communication of union No. 190, of United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, requesting that placed upon the unfair list, was referred to the Grievance Committee.

My friend "Handy Andy," referring to an improperly accented sign on an eating house in the neighborhood of the G. P. O., says it "goes ahead of 'office the Star reads thus: "Will August style," but it's no more ridiculous." This being in the nature of a sneer at the typographical department, I am afraid 'Handy Andy'' is thoroughly impregnated with the pressman's dogma, "De furder youse keeps away from dem typos, de better off youse is." It is a bludgeon, punctuate with a crowbar, and accent with an ax. You can't reform 'em, "H. A."

At the regular business meeting of the white Journeymen Barbers' Union, Local No. 239, of this city, held June 4, 1902, the following resolutions have been adopted:

WHEREAS, It is known that certain barber schools and colleges exist all over this country and as such institutions are detrimental to the barber trade in general; be it Resolved. That the members of J. B. I. U., Local 239, of Washington, D. C., condemn in the first place the broad and untrue assertions made by the proprietors of such schools or colleges in stating that anyone will learn the barber trade in six weeks, and as such assertions are made in the shape of advertisements in the daily papers, be it further Resolved. That the Central Labor Union, of this city, be informed of those facts and requested that such Washington newspapers which publish such fraudulent advertisements are disgraceful to the good taste and standing of the respective paper.

Resolved. That no member of this Union shall work with what is called a "college barber," and shall, as soon as a boss should employ such a man, quit work without any notice to the boss.

Resolved. That any newspaper, which will linsert any advertisement for barber schools or colleges after June 30, 1902, shall be declared unfair to organized labor by this Union, and dealt with according to rules governing such cases.

The railroads have given us a rate of one fare and a third, which will make transportation cost about $18, and this, with reduced hotel charges, will make the trip quite an inexpensive one. The expenses will be but a bagatelle compared to the fun we will have. It is to be hoped that as many as possible will shape matters so to go. Those from the West can go further and finish their vacation after the convention.

I don't know that the fact has been pub icly commented on, but the three G. P.O. delegates were born in Indiana. Whatever of blame may be attached to the fact, I want to plead in externation that I escaped from the State when I was five years old and have never been back except to pass through, while I believe both Bynum and Fleming yet owe political allegiance to Indiana.

The Washington Post now flies the label of the Allied Printing Trades Council at the head of its labor news. I am credibly informed that it was at the suggestion of Maj. J, T. The Post has always been fair in its treatment of organized labor. a thing that ean not be said of all news-

The Star has also hoisted the same label at the head of its labor department-a fact most gratifying to all unionists and their sympathizers. There are no papers any where that are fairer to their employes than are the Washington Post and Star.

The Record and Bill Force will play a game of base ball on Sunday, June 15, just over the District line. About 100 rooters from the Bill Force have signified their intentions to be present, and as the ball grounds are tance while Whitehead was all but out when handy to the car lines, and all are welcome, a large crowd is certain to be on hand Charlie Durno has been elected manager of the team, which will be selected from those present, and an experienced entertainment committee will endeavor to make the field day an enjoyable one. Get off the car at the District line and anyone will direct you to Ruppert's Park, where the game is to be played.

That offensive nickname, "Bugs," now so promiscuously applied to everybody, not an official, who happens to tip the beam 25 pounds lighter than yourself, reminds me of a remedy which permanently cured one man of using the term, and if directions are carefully followed, it will effect a relief in all but the most chronic cases of cuticular tough ness. A little fellow chanced to meet a burly rufflan, who would take first prize as a freight car pusher, and was greeted by the conceit-killing salutation, "Hello, Bugs!" The little fellow replied, "Hello, Louse!" The pugilist winced at this, but at the next meeting he returned to the attack with the the somewhat modified, but non-compromising synonym, "Hello, Bugsey!" The hair-space got back with, "Hello, Lousey!" The second dose had a very beneficial effect, for the next time they met; "ffl" greeted lower-case "1" with "Bo," bringing in return "Lo." That dose was the last, for the big fellow next called the little shaver by his slug and finally by his first name. # To the Members of the American Federation of Labor:

For some years the Union Cigarmakers of the United States have been making strenuous efforts to induce their fellow trades unionists to demand on all occasions union-made blue label cigars.

خد واسار واس

They have employed many agents and spent considerable sums of money to this end, and in some localities and in many of the smaller cities have accomplished creditable results. The larger fields, however, cities like New York, Chicago, St. Louis, San Francisco, etc., have been hard to reach and are still in a condition far from satisfactory from the standpoint of trades unionism. The large non-union manufacturers and the factories under the control of the trust, owing to the tremendous capital and influence under their control, have successfully prevented the universal introduction of blue label goods, and their agents—and nearly every retailer is to an extent their agent—have co-operated with them in discouraging in various ways the consumption of the union-made article.

The foisting of grossly inferior goods bearing the label has been as annoving and discouraging to workers in all trades who desire to be consistent trades unionists as to the union cigarmakers themselves. Fully 90 per cent of the retail cigar dealers in the large cities demonstrate prejudice in favor of the non-

Confident that this condition of affairs can be remedied to mutual advantage the Doremus Automatic Vending Company has determined, wherever authority to do so can be obtained, to place good union-made cigars within the reach of all ** trades unionists by installing its machines in every office, shop, foundry, mill, or work room where union men are employed. Good eigars carefully made of pure selected tobacco by skilled union cigarmakers under legal and sanitary conditions will be placed in the machines.

The cut of the machine which accompanies this article shows the type designated to vend cigars. It is the only machine ever invented to sell cigars that entirely complied with the Government regulations, and sells the cigar from an ordinary cigar box, at the same time giving the purchaser an opportunity to examine the cigar before purchasing. It has been approved by the Government. The Doremus machine is the invention of Willard D. Doremus, inventor of the street letter box and the rapid stamp cancelling machine in use by the United States Government. It does not confine its operations to cigars alone, for scores of other commodities, from a lead pencil to a package of tea or coffee, are vended with equal facility and precision.

The machine is the only universal vending device ever invented. There is no professional promoter connected with the Doremus Automatic Vending Company. All of the gentlemen connected with it have put their own money in it, and not one of them was ever before interested in the sale of any stock.

The company contends that no dealer can sell as good a cigar over the case or bar, as the Doremus Automatic Vending Company does not advertise brands of cigars, and spends nothing for rent, clerk hire, lighting or insurance, and put into the cigar what dealers are obliged to pay out for such purposes. The result is positively the best smoke to be had for the money.

The Company will aim to satisfy the taste of the public, and will welcome suggestions or criticisms that will accomplish that end.

Did you ever stop to think of the number of people that may have handled and fingered the cigar offered to you over the case or bar? The cigars sold by the vending device will go direct from the maker to the smoker and will be clean.

Where machines are installed in departments that are under the jurisdiction of unions, the Doremus Automatic Vending Company will turn into the treasury of the local branch or union, or to such benevolent or other association as shall be mutually agreed upon, 50 per cent of all profits earned by the machines in the various departments. Vacation funds or out-of-work or sick benefit funds might thus be established.

Doremus Automatic Vending Device.

(Style of machine designed to vend cigars.)

On a five-cent cigar there will be two cents profit—one cent going to the company and one cent to the treasury of the branch, or association, or union, as the case may be. On the ten-cent eigar the profit is of course much greater and is usually doubled.

The Company considers the plan in no sense benevolent, but simply mutually beneficial, the men furnishing the market and the company what are guaranteed to be the very best union-made cigars that can be bought for the money.

The gentlemen composing the Doremus Automatic Vending Company believe that by putting this plan into operation the problem of economical and profitable installation and operation will be solved, at the same time, owing to the circumstances mentioned above, offering to smokers the best eigar obtainable for the money and making it possible for trades unionists to comply with the dictates of their unions and the spirit of unionism.

The putting up of machines has already begun. A high standard of excellence will be maintained, and the quality of the cigars sold will be depended upon to establish a permanent patronage.

Should any union so decide, the 50 per cent profits turned by the company over to the union might be used to establish a building fund or for such other helpful or benevolent purpose as the union agreed upon.

Many trades unionists and letter carriers have purchased stock. Send for prospectus. Machines are on exhibition at all the offices of the Company. All inquiries regarding the security or plans of the Company will be gladly answered.

Although the Doremus Automatic Vending Company has only been organized about two months, the machines have been in practical operation for about one year, and have been an unqualified success. The fact that since its organization the Company has had all its printing done in union shops—most of it bearing the label of the allied printing trades—should be of interest to those who have at heart the welfare of that industry.

It is to be hoped that when the machines are universally installed those affiliated with the American Federation of Labor will give the blue label cigars vended by the machine a trial.

By purchasing their cigars from the little machine trades unionists will be assured of a good union smoke, and will have the additional gratification of helping to build up a fund for some special and worthy object.

Application for installation of the machines may be made direct to the Installation Department of the Company.

The proposed plan of placing union ciga which will be made of strictly first-cla naterial and never deteriorate in quali has received the indorsement of the Intern tional and the local cigarmakers unions, New York and the approval of the officers the American Federation of Labor.

Many advantages are presented by th utomatic device, namely, when the pu chaser places his money in the machine he sure of a union made cigar, one that has n en handled many times, and oftentimes a great time saver to customers.

The plan is to install the machines in ba er shops, restaurants, and in printing offi hapels, where smoking is permissible, napel to receive 50 per cent of the profits ent. This profit could be applied to man seful purposes like paying a sick benef itings, expenses for election of tellers, du assessments, or in any manner the chap

The device is under the management Mr. W. N. P. Reid, a member of New York Union's Defence Committee, and well know many printers in this city. All inquir addressed to him will receive courteous
